The Todays at HFCS

Tomorrow is a very special day. It holds all expectations that may become realities. The person who lives in a world of fantasy hopes that tomorrow his dreams will come true. The realist hopes that the morrow will ease the hardships of life. Tomorrow, imagination is air and dreams are life. Tomorrow is today's hope and yesterday's shadow. Tomorrow is a babbling brook that only flows to the future.

Yesterday is for memories. Many people try to make the past the present with flashbacks. To them today's dawn will always be yesterday's twilight. Yesterday may be quiet and sweet as a baby's sleep or it may be tragic and harsh as death. Yesterday was reality and will be remembered as such.

Today is unexplored. Yesterday and tomorrow have a place in one's life but today is the most important. If there weren't life today there wouldn't be any memories for tomorrow or dreams for tonight. Today is the most important day; yet it is the easiest to lose. People should live life for today's moments rather than yesterday's memories or tomorrow's dreams.

We at Hoosick Falls Central School are presenting this year-book with the above statement in mind. The 1966 VAGABOND is a summary of the todays as they happen and the people who live them.

MR. WILLIAM WATERHOUSE

The school year, 1965-1966, has been one of change. Students follow a rotating schedule, watch the progression on the new elementary wing, and participate more in assemblies. Mr. Philip Leonard has assumed the position of superintendent and Mr. William Waterhouse has come from the Waterford-Half Moon High School to become our high school principal. We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate Mr. Philip Leonard, welcome Mr. William Waterhouse, and wish them both success in the future.

HFCS recognizes scholastic achievement

National Honor Society

Honor Society member S. Davison practices her speech for the traditional tapping ceremony in the spring.

The members of the Hoosick Falls chapter of the National Honor Society have received the emblem, a keystone and flaming torch, which represents the ideal education. The four letters at the base of the keystone represent scholarship, leadership, character, and service. Candidates must have attained an average of 90 if a sophomore, 87 if a junior, and 85 if a senior. Senior class valedictorian G. Harrison, salutatorian S. Davison, and third honor student B. Cipperly represent all the qualities of the society and have been members since their sophomore year. All members have been honored for what they have already accomplished and the promise they hold for the future.

Seven members of the senior class were winners of New York State Regents Scholarships. G. Harrison attained the highest exam score in Rensselaer County. S. Davison, B. Cipperly, R. Danforth, J. Richards, F. Carelli and T. Rice were the other winners who are to be congratulated for their achievement. T. Beckstein, W. Ingram, T. Moore, and S. Taber were named as alternate winners. B. Cipperly received the DAR award for citizenship, G. Harrison, who received a letter of commendation in the National Merit Scholarship exam, is the winner of Bausch and Lomb science award, and D. Bingham won the Betty Crocker homemaking contest.

National Honor Society members S. Taber, S. Davison, G. Harrison, W. Cottrell, B. Cipperly, R. Danforth, and their advisor Mrs. Jane Waltz are pictured early in the spring before the 1966 tapping.

STUDENT COUNCIL: T. Moore, R. Mihuta, P. Cipperly, D. Waterhouse, R. Crowley, W. Miller, G. Kjølgaard, L. Cappellino, N. Steller, C. Kaukas, F. Reynolds, C. Pierce, D. Miller, K. Buck, L. Baertschi, M. Stempel, J. Miller, C. Frazier, and A. Moseley.

Delegates unite students and administration.

Student Council

The student governing organization has been active in performing its many duties, in addition to sponsoring many assemblies and dances throughout the year. A Student Council day was held. This gave the student body an opportunity to meet with its representatives and observe their activities.

Advised by Miss Charlotte Hulihan, the officers President D. Miller, Vice-president N. Steller, and secretary-treasurer T. Moore have led the members in serving the school and the pupils which they represent.

Representatives R. Mihuta, L. Cappellino and F. Reynolds listen attentively to the discussion about Student Council Day.

Council officers D. Miller, T. Moore and N. Steller have planned meetings throughout the year for the organization.

MEZZANINE TOUR OF NEW YORK STATE

During April vacation 1965, the Hoosick Falls Central School Symphonic Band played three concerts at the New York State Pavilion at the World's Fair. Band members had leisure time for exploring the fair and despite the weather, a good time was had by all.

PERCUSSION SECTION: J. Shaw, D. LeBarroo, N. Nelson, C. Carelli, G. Harrison, and W. Waterhouse.

Senior Band

The Symphonic Band is the largest and best prepared group in our school, composed of students in grades 9-12, and a few junior high students who qualify.

The band plays in three annual concerts, in winter and spring and at Christmas. Past members of the band play in the Christmas concert. The band also plays in occasional school assemblies and appears annually at NYSSMA and Tri-State competitions, winning top awards in the highest level music.

Special field trips, such as the appearance at the World's Fair last year, have been arranged. An exchange program with a Montreal high school has been planned.

The band officers, President G. Hall; Vice-president W. Cottrell, Secretary S. Davison, and Treasurer W. Waterhouse have devised a point system for the awarding of prizes at the awards assembly. Band members also have a skating party or band picnic at various times throughout the year.

and experience and intellectual challenge.

The clarinet choir includes all sizes of clarinets from the contra-bass to the high E<sup>b</sup>. Although this group under the direction of Mr. William Gaillard is new this year, the members work very hard and have already given several public performances including one at a DAR meeting and at the annual Christmas and spring concerts.

The members are J. Miller, F. Eldred, J. Lasse, M. Frazier, L. Cornell, M. Guber, A. Niles, T. Durbee, A. Stotson, A. Petersen, L. Buswell, J. Zilinskius, and S. Hall.

Senior Chorus

Mrs. Eloise Canzeri and the Senior Chorus enjoyed a very successful year filled with both school and competitive performances. They sang at the annual Christmas and spring concerts and also at various other school assemblies. In the spring the chorus was judged in NYSSMA competition and participated in the Tri-State Music Festival. Some chorus members had the opportunity to sing with choral students from other schools in All-County and All-State. During November the area All-State was held in our school with eleven members singing in the mass chorus while other chorus members acted as guides and helped play host to visiting schools.

Next year the underclassmen, aided by new students from the Junior High Chorus, are looking forward to an equally successful year.

Alton D. Harrison, H. Hayes, S. Stetson, P. Malo and D. Norton work hard to make their part perfect. Being a chorus member requires time and effort. In the extensive practice sessions patience is required of all, mindful of the goal of perfection.

Through junior music groups students are

Junior Band

The Junior Band, composed of sixty-six members from grades seven and eight, is conducted by Mr. William Gaillard. This group, because of excellent instrumentation, talent, and spirit, has been able to perform music outside the realm of most Junior Bands.

Their first appearance was made at the Christmas Concert which featured a sing along. After Christmas vacation, the band began preparation for the annual Spring Concert and Competition, which took place in late spring before professional judges.

Today's preparation in music leads to a greater understanding and appreciation of instrumental literature, a career in music for some, and for others a beneficial means of using leisure time.

Britt, N. Lohnes, S. Surlam, B. King, D. Reynolds, D. Coenrad, E. Shurkey, M. Davenslants, G. Cornell, Mr. Pederson.

The student body listens attentively while Mr. Calvin Pederson announces the next number to be sung by the Junior Chorus during the annual Christmas Assembly. This is only one of the many public appearances the group makes throughout the year.

Junior Chorus

This year's Junior Chorus, under the direction of Mr. Calvin Pederson, has made remarkable progress. It is composed of seventy-five members of grades seven and eight who meet every Monday and Wednesday during noon hours. The difficulty and quality of the music sung by this group reflects their hard work.

The group has made appearances at the Christmas Concert and annual Spring Concert. Along with the eight A English class, the chorus also put on the operetta, "Tom Sawyer," which proved to be a great success.

The purpose of the Junior Chorus is to train young people for future voice works in Senior Chorus and perhaps even a career in music.

Hard work, skill, and dedication

Good and effective pictures are necessary for a good yearbook. Our photography editor, D. Redden, finds herself in a precarious situation as she prepares to map a picture.

The Vagabond

The creation of the yearbook is a major project which involves many hours of hard work. The senior and junior staff members devote their seventh periods, study halls, and Saturdays before deadlines to the production of the book. They design pages, take pictures, and compose the captions, headlines and write-ups.

The junior staff, in preparation for the production of their book, must learn many skills. Among these are the cropping of pictures and the designing of pages.

The senior staff is mainly concerned with editing and the selection and development of the theme to be used throughout the book.

The entire staff takes pride in producing the book which we hope represents the life at our school.

EDITORIAL STAFF: J. Arnold, B. Cipperly, Treasurer; G. Squires, L. Cappellino, and T. Beckstein.

TYPING STAFF: N. Taber, M. Brominski, M. Schmigel, Head Typist; W. Sheffer, D. Harrington, and D. Wilson.

THE JUNIOR STAFF has worked many hours in helping to produce the '66 Vagabond. Here D. Harrison, J. Goodrich, B. Bushey, N. Nelson, and H. Hayes select pictures and design pages to meet the next deadline.

Le Cercle Français

Standing in front of "Le Drapeau Français" are the club officers B. Bisson, S. Busby, S. Davison, and N. Nelson.

Le Cercle Français, one of the most active groups in our school, helps to give the students who study French a broader understanding of France and its culture. Mrs. Jane Waltz, the advisor, and the club officers President S. Busby, Vice-president S. Davison, Secretary N. Nelson, and Treasurer B. Bisson along with their appointed committees have provided many interesting and educational meetings. The Bulletin Board Committee each month has provided attractive displays in pictures and words showing France's people and their customs.

The Program Committee has provided a variety of activities for the club members at their bi-weekly meetings. This committee deserves credit for the successful dance sponsored by the club and for the assembly program on the history and culture of France.

Meetings are conducted "en français."

Each month members of the French Club design and arrange attractive bulletin board displays. B. Bisson, J. Roys, and N. Nelson select the pictures for Christmas time.

Many valuable acting techniques are learned by the members of the drama ensemble. Here, in character, each musician plays his instrument. The first row is composed of violinist and flute players, the second row of clarinet players, and the third row bass violinists.

A spring play highlights the dramatic year.

The members of the Drama Ensemble, composed of students in grades 7-12, learn basic dramatic skills. Given certain circumstances by Mr. Paul Fink, instructor, the members make-up improvisations, which are used to test the imagination of students as well as their ability to think quickly.

The second half of the year is devoted mainly to backstage and on stage work. Backstage, students learn how to work the lighting system, to place furniture, other scenery, and props.

A spring production is the highlight of the year for the drama ensemble. Mr. Maurice Beaulieu, advisor, Mr. Fink, and the drama members work together for fun and also to learn skills which may be applied to everyday life as well as drama.

Mr. Paul Fink instructs L. Cappellino in walking gracefully while descending stairs.

Future Teachers of America

During the past year the Hoosick Falls Chapter of the Future Teachers of America has created interest not only within the group itself, but throughout the entire student body. Several projects were undertaken including a Christmas drive for the needy and a Christmas party for the special Class. Many of the members attended the Capital Area Future Teachers Convention held at Bethlehem Central School. Among them were, L. Cappellino, President; J. Goodrich, Vice-President; D. Miller, Recording Secretary; B. Sausville, Corresponding Secretary; T. Moore, Treasurer; and E. Sprague, Historian. Recently the organization established a point system under which the members are expected to spend time working with a teacher and observing. Through this system the members hope to gain a better understanding of the word Teacher.

Students learn teaching fundamentals

E. Sprague and P. Nash listen attentively to the plans for the annual Christmas party given by FTA for the special class.

E. Theriault, P. Wilson, Ms. R. Michael Brewster and A. Niles, attend a convention of the Capital Area Future Teachers Association at Bethlehem Central. There they attended workshops and listened to speakers discussing teaching methods.

Checking books in and replacing the cards in them are important parts of the Library Club. Here L. Ingraham and A. Ogert are replacing a card in a book to be returned to the shelf.

The officers of the Library Club examine literature, other than books, which the club also has in abundance. G. Cornell, N. Taber, and E. Sprague read a newspaper, which is included with magazines in the library, to help keep students and teachers informed on current events.

Knowledge is gained through library skills.

The advisor of the club, Mrs. Eleanor Kelly, works closely with the girls to help them develop library skills. Mrs. Kelly is showing C. Baldwin and A. Ogert the qualities of a particular book.

Library Club

Library Club officers this year were N. Taber, President; G. Cornell, Vice President; E. Sprague, Secretary-Treasurer. This year the Library Club is working in the service of the sixth grade because there is no library in the elementary section. The students use the Dewey Decimal System in categorizing the library books on the shelves. Mrs. Kelly, the advisor, takes great pride in the fact that the Library Club is the oldest club in continuous service at Hoosick Falls Central School.

The Christmas spirit was enhanced

Seniors spent the morning of December 30th decorating the cafeteria for that evening. G. Squites hangs one of the gigantic wreaths which created a very pleasing affect.

The annual Winter Ball, presented by the class of 1966 was held during our Christmas vacation on December 30, 1965.

The dance committee, headed by S. Harrington and D. Scott and advised by Mrs. Nancy Von Haggin, was Christmas inspired as they decorated the cafeteria with gigantic wreaths, a pine-filled sleigh and a gayly adorned Christmas tree. Couples danced or sat around small tables talking and enjoying the music provided by the Paul Kreiger Orchestra which enhanced the mood with holiday music.

Punch and Christmas cookies were served throughout the evening. Mr. Maurice Beaulieu took colored pictures of couples against the background of dense evergreens and mistletoe.

The Seniors devoted much time and effort into making their Winter Ball a success and enjoyable for everyone.

Senior girls made center pieces for the tables surrounding the dance floor. D. Harrington and B. Clippely are making snowmen from styro-foam for the center pieces.

Serving punch and Christmas cookies is Mrs. Nancy VonHaggin, who aided seniors in preparing for their dance. We would like to take this opportunity to thank her for all of her time and effort.

by the traditional Winter Ball.

Head of the decoration committee D. Scott discusses the results of his hard work with his date S. Davison.

F. Moore and C. Rowland appreciate the music provided by the Paul Kreiger Orchestra.

While sitting out a dance, F. Eldred and C. Frasier enjoy refreshments and a moment for conversation.

On the morning of the Prom students worked quickly and efficiently to transform our cafeteria into a Parisian sidewalk cafe. Here S. Harrington arranges one of the many place settings in preparation for the 160 students who were to dine there that evening.

An Eiffel Tower, Parisian street scene, and a bridge over the River Seine were the main features of Parisian Promenade. Working on one of the flower boxes to be used in the street scene are M. Schmigel and D. Wilson.

Much preparation and hard work created

1965 Queen B. Saurville with her court and their escorts; S. Davison, D. Scott, D. Bingham, D. Hamelman, D. Harrington, H. Cipperly, F. Hubbard, J. Maxon, R. Pitt, 1964 Queen; R. Lassar, B. Saurville, W. Highfield, G. Starr, D. Wilson, T. Moore, M. Brominski, H. McClellan, W. Sheffer, P. Kipp, S. Harrington. Standing in front of the Queen and her court are the flower bearers T. Andrew, J. Kipp, T. Kovage.

The highlight of the Junior Prom was the Grand March led by E. Peckham, W. Ingram, H. Hayes, T. Beckstein, B. Sausville, W. Highfield, D. Markiewicz and R. Marani.

La Promenade Parisienne

The culmination of much hard work by the Juniors was reached June 9, 1965. Couples passed under the Arc de Triumphe into the heart of Paris. The music of the Dave Jarvis Orchestra drifted over the crowded street as couples danced in the shadows of the Eiffel Tower.

The highlight of the evening was the coronation of queen Barbara Sausville and presentation of the court followed by the Grand March led by Junior and Senior class officers. At midnight refreshments were served in the cafeteria which had been transformed into a sidewalk cafe complete with French waitresses.

The class of '66 would like to take this opportunity to thank the many people who helped us put on a successful prom, but most of all we would like to express our gratitude to Miss Charlotte Hulihan without whom our prom would not have been possible.

After the prom many couples visited the French cafe. Here J. Gavagan and R. Armitage wait in line for refreshments for their dates.

Members develop an interest in literature.

Junior Library Club members learn how to utilize the facilities in the library, such as the card catalogue, the check-out system, and the card file. Here J. Stetson, S. Brandalick, and C. Shapiro make use of the card catalogue.

Junior Library Club

The Junior Library Club under the guidance of Mr. Myron Hertel has spent many useful hours in the library. They have not only learned the fundamental library principles, but have also acquired a deep appreciation for the realm of literature. Most members will continue their interest through the Senior Library Club.

The members of the Junior Library Club work in both the Senior and Junior high school libraries, assisting the librarian in the many tasks involved in operating a smooth running library. J. Brenenstahl, A. Brust, and W. Brown use their knowledge of the Dewey Decimal System in replacing books.

Through their work in the club members come to appreciate more the value of books. M. Miller, A. Peterson, M. Frazier, L. Cornell and S. Sordam compare books which they have read and enjoyed.

SPORTS

The varsity club promotes school spirit.

Varsity Club Members: G. Hall, F. Thomas, B. Lingner, R. Dowling, and R. Ingraham receive instructions for ushering at home basketball games.

Varsity Club

Autumn brings many new experiences and opportunities. A new addition to our wide range of organizations made its entrance this fall, with the establishment of the Varsity Club. Membership is restricted to those boys who have earned a letter by participation in one or more varsity sports. Under the direction of Mr. Anthony Turi, the boys launched the season with the election of officers, then laid down plans for the oncoming year. Such plans were made keeping their basic purpose in mind, which is to promote good sportsmanship, school spirit, encourage participation in athletics, and to work with other organizations to advance various school activities. Although not a money-making organization, the club has held several dances to aid them in their work with other such clubs. These boys have also served as ushers at numerous sports events. Next year the members are looking forward to an even better and more successful season.

Club president John Arnold conducts a meeting of the Varsity Club early in the year. Mr. Turi, the club advisor, aids John and the club members to fulfill their projects.

This year's varsity team won its third baseball championship of the Washington County League in three years winding up with an eleven and one season. The steady pitching of Tom Chapman, Paul Harrison, and Bill Highfield plus consistent fielding and hitting from all players paved the way to victory.

Under the direction of Mr. Donald Roy in his first season as varsity coach, the team showed much improvement, and many positions were filled with new faces. Because of his work and enthusiasm, our team fought long and hard to come up with the necessary ability and skill to make this year a championship year. Although losing to Corinth in the Class C Sectionals, the team carried on the Hoosier tradition of fine ball playing and good sportsmanship.

Extra effort is a prime ingredient which goes into the winning of ball games. Here a Hoosier still manages to gain precious yardage despite being tackled by several fierce opponents.

Football requires preparation, practice,

Cheerleading is only one of the many ways students express their enthusiasm for the boys' efforts. N. Steller and D. Harrison are shown rousing our boys on to victory in the form of a precision cheer.

Watching the game from a high perch is J. Arnold, star half-back who was eliminated from competition early in the season when his leg was broken during the Cambridge game. Senior J. Arnold has been a varsity football player since his freshman year.

Hoosier Football

The Hoosiers met the football season of 1965 with great anticipation. They were defeated in their first games but were able to come back in good spirit to win four out of their last five battles. When you get into the heart of a tree the chopping becomes much harder. Our 1965 squad proved this. By the end of the season, our team showed a hard core of players who desired winning games and who were willing to sacrifice and put forth that extra effort in order to win. Our players certainly deserve commendation for the about-face they made. Their courage and assiduous toil which characterized the team in the latter season, sparked the Hoosiers onto victory.

Our team pioneered an entirely new offensive and defensive system in our Washington County Football League. The changeover took time, patience, and team work.

Our fine coaching staff combined with the potential material should make an exciting football season next year.

timing, skill, and a desire to win.

A successful football team depends largely upon the effort and perseverance of its members. Winning is not simply a matter of possessing the ball and running, but rather incorporating many individual skills. Here C. Pitt utilizes a method of dodging a tackler.

1965-66 Wrestling

Hard work and dedication by all team members resulted in a very successful season for the wrestling team of HFCS. Long hours of practice combined with perseverance were rewarded by a second place position in the Washington County League and the Section II Class C championship. The team obtained an overall record of 11-3. Their only losses were to class A powerhouse and Suburban Council champion Columbia High and undefeated Cambridge Central, Washington County League champion. In addition to regular league competition, the boys also participated in a Christmas tournament at Mechanicville, where they received a second place trophy in an eight team competition. In mid-February a county tournament was held at Cambridge where the team again received a second place trophy. Losing only three members through graduation, next year's team should have a very successful season.

Coach Bruce Wheeler gives W. Miller important instructions as W. Robson limbers him up a few minutes before his match. Bill went on to win the 98 pound championship in Section II.

Quick reflexes and mastery of the basic skills are the prime factors in determining whether or not a wrestler will pin his opponent. W. Robson in a favorable position is on the verge of flipping his opponent.

1965-66 Varsity

Pre-game practice finds D. Scott and W. Sheffer fighting for a rebound as F. Carelli and W. Waterhouse look on. These warmups provide shooting practice and rebound drill, important skills necessary for a well coordinated team.

During the 1965-66 basketball season the Hoosier varsity compiled a respectable 14-4 record taking second place in the Washington County League. Coached by Mr. Kenneth Slonis, the team came on strong at the end of the season making a bid for the league championship by defeating all of the teams which had beaten us earlier in the league campaign.

Four members of the team scored regularly in double figures led by G. Starr and W. Waterhouse whose averages were near 20 points a game. Balanced by a solid scoring attack, the team was led defensively by the rebounding of G. Starr, W. Sheffer, and F. Carelli. T. Beckstein and D. Wysocki shared in setting up the defensive and offensive plays during the season and were responsible for many exciting moments.

Four members of the starting five G. Starr, W. Waterhouse, T. Beckstein, and F. Carelli will be graduating this year and are to be congratulated for a job well done.

place in the Washington County League.

In a tight game with undefeated Hooisic Valley every basket counted. Breaking through a tough defense, W. Waterhouse raises the score two more points, leading the Hoosiers on to victory.

Highest scorer in the Washington County League, G. Starr displays the skill necessary to maintain this position. During the exciting Salem game the crowd cheers as George sinks the ball.

The annual Christmas Tournament at Mechanicville provides the Hoosiers with an opportunity to test their ability against larger city schools. Throughout the tournament, the cheerleaders led the crowd in cheers and added that bit of enthusiasm which sparked the boys on to a second place title.

Varsity cheerleaders D. Harrison, L. Bedford, C. Davendonis, H. Hayes, G. Cornell, G. Whittet, and S. Stetson lead the supporters of our team during a time out.

Cheerleaders give team support throughout

Despite attempts by Hoosic Valley to block the basket, G. Starr's height and shooting ability provided the perfect setup to add another two points to the Hoosier score.

JV Basketball

The 1965-66 Hoosier JV basketball squad was made up completely of inexperienced freshmen. Although they did not win many games, these boys learned to play together and showed much promise for the future. Coach Turi's squad ended the season with a 4 and 12 record. By the end of the season the boys were playing a much better game of basketball and are looking forward to next year's campaign.

After pulling in a rebound, T. Starr dribbles the ball while his teammates take their positions under the Hoosier basket.

Even when behind by a large margin, the JV's never stop trying. R. Morin, one of the more promising JV players, connects for two more points in an attempt to even the score.

Girls' Intramurals

Throughout the school year girls at Hoosick Falls Central School actively participate in intramurals. Basketball, soccer, hockey, tumbling, apparatus, and officials club take place 7th periods in the gym or on the athletic field. The girls accumulate points and receive prizes based on a point system at the annual awards' assembly. While gaining these points they make friends, learn skills and become good sports.

Girls are offered a variety of sports.

Before the actual game the girls practice skills to improve their overall playing ability. L. Hoffman takes advantage at this time to quicken her speed at lifting up the ball, an important factor in speedway.

When the weather becomes too inclement for outdoor sports, the girls resort to the gymnasium for volleyball, basketball, and apparatus. Mrs. Barbara Wiley supervises a volleyball match as L. Hubbard sets the ball up to teammate T. Dunlop who spikes it over the net.

Freshman Class

Our freshmen attend the games regularly and are the major supporters of our teams. They participate in intramural sports, and other school activities. Freshman names headed the petition lists in the school spirit contest. Our freshmen have also achieved high academic standards. They are the most numerous on the honor roll and the merit list.

This active class is led by President David Waterhouse, Vice-President Dennis LeBarron, Secretary Jayne Zilinkas, and Treasurer Janice Lassar. The Student Council's freshman members are Linda Baertschi, Charles Frazier and Ann Mosley. Aided by their advisor Mr. William Peckham, Mr. Bertram Stritch and Mr. Warren Eastwick, a successful dance was held on November 6th. A dance following a basketball game and many other fund raising activities have been planned.

The members of the class of 1968 are associated with the various clubs and organizations throughout the school. They also show great enthusiasm for their academic studies. The versatile sophomores actively participate in social activities and attempt to achieve their scholastic goals.

With the help of this year's class advisors, Mr. Maurice Beaulieu, Mr. Linden Parrish, and Mr. Mark Waltz, the sophomores organized many well-planned class projects. Through the efforts of president Bill Miller; vice-president Paul O'Brien; secretary Pat Scaglione and treasurer Walter Robson, a successful dance was made possible.

Juniors translate Cicero in Latin three, the most advanced Latin course offered by our school.

One of the many activities in which junior girls participate is cheerleading. Whether the team is winning or losing, our cheerleaders show this type of enthusiasm throughout the game. Here C. Devendonis and K. Polcines urge our team on to victory with rousing cheers of encouragement.

*Look not mournfully into the Past. It comes not back again.
Wisely improve the Present. It is thine. Go forth to meet the shadowy Future, without fear, and with a manly heart.*

*Listen to the Exhortation of the Dawn!
Look to this day!
For it is life, the very life of life
In its brief course lie all the verities and realities of your existence:
The Bliss of growth,
The glory of action,
The Splendor of Beauty.*

*For yesterday is but a dream,
And tomorrow is only a vision;
But today well lived makes every yesterday a dream of happiness,
And every tomorrow a vision of hope.
Look well, therefore, to this day!
Such is the salutation of the dawn.*
