

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

PRESBYTERIAN CONNECTION

SEPTEMBER, OCTOBER 2021

GREETINGS,

As we look back over the past couple of months we have offered our formal goodbyes to three very precious members of our church: Delores McColley, Charlie Leader, and Ann Speith. All of them have ended their journeys with us and entered into their place of spiritual rest awaiting the final resurrection. It is the first time in my ministerial journey that I have ever had to say goodbye to so many who were so beloved within a short period of time. I believe the significance of these past six weeks should not go unnoticed.

I think that it is important to reflect once again upon their amazing lives and remind ourselves of the power of a virtuous, pious life. All three of these saints were amazing blessings to others. All three were vivid portraits of devout faith. All three made serving and generosity a priority for their life. All three have left us with deep holes in our lives through their absence. All three have bestowed upon us rich treasures in the form of lasting memories. Such is the influence of lives given in service to God and to others.

It is no secret that for many among us as human beings, life is about achieving as much as we can, accumulating as much as we can, enjoying as much as we can, and extracting from life as much as we can. I believe that you will agree with me that all three of our departed and beloved church family members enjoyed life and blessings, but through their devotion to God and others, they also made a profound difference to all of us. When reflecting upon their lives we don't so much notice how blessed or accomplished they were. Instead we remember their kindness, their strength, their generosity, their contributions, and their profound examples that they modeled for us.

I think this unique time of saying goodbye should stir in all of us a desire to measure our own lives. As all of us age and find ourselves at various stages of running our final race, it is important to ask the difficult questions that a celebrated life requires. It is never too late to make changes in life. It is never impossible to travel a different path.

I ask you to join me in asking important questions and thoughtfully reflect on essential elements to a meaningful life:

How do I finish well? It is not how we start our race that matters it is how we finish that ultimately makes a difference.

What am I living for today? Life is about more than my personal wellbeing and enjoyment. The inclusion of serving God and others must have a role in everyday life.

What fuels my energy to live? Passion in life must be developed, harnessed, and directed in both our personal wellbeing and the wellbeing of others.

In looking back over life, how do I use my regrets, mistakes, and misguided priorities to energize a new way of being? Learning from our mistakes can fuel an intense desire for something more, something better, and/or something important.

Where do I go and what do I do to more deeply experience the presence of God? The need for God's grace, assurance, and strength only increases as we get closer to the finish line.

What do I honestly see as my legacy after I finish my race? Making things right relationally, making a difference to others, and turning up the intensity of the light hat shines out from me matters to those I will leave behind.

How can I become better at living in gratitude especially when physical, mental, and emotional challenges become more difficult and draining? A merry heart doeth good like a medicine says the Proverbs.

These are just some of the endless possibilities for reflections that are available for assisting us toward the goal of hearing these beloved words, "Well done good and faithful servant, enter into the joy of your Lord." I encourage you to invest the time and energy to leave behind for your friends and loved-ones riches similar to those we received from the three recently departed saints. It is a gift that keeps on giving.

Blessings,

Tom

STATED CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

There will be a Stated Congregational Meeting following worship on Sunday, September 19, 2021, for the purpose of voting on the following By-Law changes:

- Quorum for congregational meetings decreased from 25 to 10;
- Nominating Committee decreased from four to three (one elder and two at-large)

Current Bylaws state we need 25 members to vote on these changes. Please make an effort to be in attendance this Sunday.

SESSION NOTES

On Monday, August 9, 2021, Session met via Zoom again since cases of COVID 19 have increased. Session approved calling a special Congregational Meeting on September 19 to present the following proposed changes to the By-Laws of First Presbyterian Church:

1. Decrease the number of active members needed to form a quorum from twenty-five to ten.
2. Decrease the Nominating Committee from four to three members (one elder and two at-large).

Lynn Yarnell volunteered to be Commissioner for the Presbytery meeting September 21 in Cadmus, MI, which could be in-person or via Zoom.

Session is in the process of mapping a strategy for how to run the church as we address declining membership and an aging congregation. We may need to change by simplifying the way we do things. For example, how we decorate the church for Christmas. Do we have enough people to do the Greening how we have in the past, or do we need to scale back our decorations? Do we have enough people to start doing Community Meals next year? How do we get the building and grounds ready for winter with storm windows, trimming bushes, and other fall clean-up chores? These are just a couple examples of what the Congregational Life Team, Operations Team and Session are discussing.

Since the pre-packaged Communion elements were difficult to open, for the next Communion, we will ask you to come forward for a new “tough-free” wafer and regular individual glass.

Session will meet next on October 11. Hopefully, we will be able to resume meeting in person.
