

Finger pressing

F

Finger pressing is used to flatten a seam after sewing. It is commonly used in quilting. Finger pressing does not replace pressing with an iron. The finger is pressed down onto the open seam on the wrong side and pushed along the seam.

www.sheillasewingschool.com