

Flatlocking (Overlocking)

Flatlocking is where two edges of a fabric are overlocked and then pulled apart so that the stitches are flat. Flatlocking can be used to add detail to the right side of a garment. flatlocking can be used on either the right side or wrong side of the fabric. One side loops are shown; on the other ladders.

www.sheillasewingschool.com