

In-seam pockets

An in-seam pocket is sewn into the existing seam of a garment. One half of the pocket is sewn to one side of the seam and the other half to the second side of the seam. The two halves of the pocket are then sewn together.

