

Interlining

An interlining is a second lining placed between the outer garment and the lining. It can be used to provide warmth or to give more structure to a garment. It is often used in the lapel of a jacket.

www.sheillasewingschool.com