Mesh

M

Mesh is a loosely woven fabric that is usually constructed from nylon. Mesh is identified by holes that are uniform across the fabric but vary in size according to the kind of mesh. Synthetic fabrics like Polyester ensure that the fabric is robust and can withstand all wear due to its open weave and structure.