

Shank

A shank is a device for providing a small amount of space in between a garment and a button. Shanks are necessary to provide space for fabric to sit in between button and the garment when the garment is buttoned. Shank buttons are often used on outerwear such as coats. Shank buttons have no holes.

