

Shears

Shears are similar to scissors but which have specialist uses.

- Dressmaking shears have bent handles to enable the lower blade to remain flat on the table while cutting fabric;
- Trimming shears are small scissors which are used to cut threads, notches and clipping curves;
- Pinking shears are scissors similar to dressmaking shears but with a serrated edge which is used to trim seams with a triangular edge.
- Embroidery scissors are very small scissors used to trim embroidery threads.
