

Textiles

Textile is an general term that includes various fibre-based materials, including fibres, yarns, filaments, threads, and different fabric types, At Originally, the word textiles only referred to woven fabrics.

Textiles are materials made of natural or synthetic fibers. The fibres in the material can be animal-based such as silk and wool; plant-based derived such as cotton, flax, and hemp; or synthetically produced such as nylon, polyester, rayon, and spandex.

