

If you can change the life of one child, you can change the world. Imagine an enlightenment training camp in Heaven inspiring cherubs to become guardian angels who will guide souls on earth, leading them on an exciting adventure as they journey to the enchanted world of Inspirit. "Inspirit: Cherubs in Training" is an original multi-media endeavor seeking to educate society about the virtues needed to live a morally spiritual life in a materialistic world.

The Storyline

The cherubs rally together to bring joy to the hearts of one little girl who has had so much sadness in her life, and one little boy who sees the world through dark colored glasses. Can they forge together to help the children on their adventure to find the treasures of a secret map found in an old attic? Or will the darkness of these children's lives mask the joy that lies before them. With the help of the cherubs, the lives of seven children become intertwined in a mystery-filled fantasy, and hope and healing emerges as their adventure unfolds. With the clues that have been passed down through the history of their ancestors, the children embark on a quest to find the keys that will unlock the doors to a world beyond their greatest imaginations and bring their dreams to life.
