WEEK OF OCTOBER 11

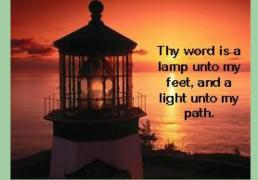

Worship Bulletin Oct. 11

19th SUNDAY AFTER PENTECOST

In Isaiah we are given a vision of the great feast to come, when God will wipe away forever. In Jesus' death parable about a great banquet, those invited do not come, so the invitation is extended to others. In our liturgy God spreads a table before us. Even amid anxiety and hardship we rejoice in the peace of God which surpasses all understanding. With great joy we feast at the table of the Lord, and we go forth to share the wonderful invitation with others hungering and thirsting for the abundant life of God.

BLESSING OF THE ANIMALS

Postponed Until Later

From the Pastor

Rejoice in the Lord always; again I will say, Rejoice. (Philippians 4:4)

You may think that's easy for Paul to say...but not really. Paul writes these words from prison, facing an uncertain future. The same is true for the church in Philippi. There are those who have come preaching the necessity of circumcision and of following the laws of Judaism, and the church is in conflict.

So how can Paul, how can they, possibly rejoice? They can rejoice because they are not alone: the Lord is near (4:5); the peace of God (which surpasses all understanding), will guard their hearts and minds in Christ Jesus (4:7); and in prayer and thanksgiving and setting their mind on Christ, the peace of God will be with them (4:9). It is this truth, this promise that enables them to think about and be about whatever is honorable, just, pure, pleasing, commendable, worthy of praise...in other words, the work of Christ.

The same is true for us. In the middle of a pandemic, political turmoil, social distancing, economic uncertainty, not to mention it's been nearly seven months since we last gathered in person to worship... how can we possibly rejoice? Well, we are not alone, the Lord is near – guiding us, sustaining us, and through us continuing to proclaim the gospel through social media and feeding the hungry, and caring for the neighbor.

As for resuming worship, while Governor Cooper announced a transition to phase three, the recommended numbers for mass gatherings did not change (25 indoors; 50 outdoors). This, however, doesn't mean we are biding our time. The Health and Safety committee has presented a proposed regathering plan to the church council which will be approved in some form, this coming Tuesday (October 13). We will then make the plan available to the congregation, so you are familiar with the necessary safety procedures for regathering.

In addition, over the next several weeks we will be preparing the facilities, training ushers and greeters, and planning the changes that will be necessary for worship, so that after Governor Cooper's next update on October 23, and in consultation with the North Carolina Synod, we are ready to resume in-person worship.

In the meantime, we will continue to offer weekly worship using social media, and on the second and fourth Wednesdays of the month we will offer a Drive-In Holy Communion service on the top floor of the parking deck beside the church. It is a beautiful setting, and we invite you to join us.

Thank you for your continued prayers and generosity and patience. And remember, we really do have a lot to rejoice and to give thanks for...for the Lord is near and faithful.

Seminary Snapshot Day

Join us on Wednesday, October 21, for an online snapshot of Lutheran Theological Southern Seminary life! We'll begin our day talking about discernment and God's call to ministry.

We'll attend chapel together, and you'll have the opportunity to sit in on a class. We promise lots of breaks and opportunities for conversation. Because you would normally take time out of your usual schedule to come in person to our campus, we hope you will carve out the day to spend with a sense of retreat. Create a comfortable space to dwell for the day, a place conducive to deep conversation and listening to what God is saying about your life and your call.

Register today for LTSS Snapshot.

Dear Friends at St. James Lutheran Church:

I was so excited when we received your check for $500 to help our local child care providers with cleaning supplies and personal protection supplies. I want to thank everyone for your support and for remembering the child care providers in Cabarrus County. You guys are amazing!

We know there are many charitable causes in our community, but we are so honored that you are supporting our child care providers and their families. Thank you again for your generosity.
