(Caricature Fisherman)

While searching on the Internet I came across another type of woodcarving called "Caricature carving in thin relief". It is a carving that appears to have been carved "in the round" but in reality, is from a very thin piece of wood, generally 1 inch or less. The author of this article was Harley Schmitgen. I hope to have done a project so I can bring it to our carving class on April 12th.

In the process of filling out paper work for our club to become a Non-profit. This will give us the ability to except donations and the possibility that we could use these donations to offset the cost of our classes that we have, Stay tuned.
