

Ayusa Testimonial

We highly recommend Dynamic Human Development's Jump Start Program course with Radomir Samardzic and Inga Estes.

The workshop was a great success! We got to recognize the strengths of each staff member and learned how to assign duties accordingly. At the same time we motivated our staff to work on their weaknesses.

While other courses taught us about different ways of communication, this course was an eye opener on how important listening is. Effective communication is not possible without great listening skills. The internal communication of our organization became more open, transparent and efficient.

New responsibilities are embraced with enthusiasm and team spirit. We now observe responsibilities not as a challenge but rather as a exciting new opportunity to learn and grow.

While we got to learn about each other's positions and see others responsibilities from a new prospective we also determined new programs that we can develop. That resulted in three new big projects.

Another achievement during the program was our vision statement. During our three days spent together we have created a vision statement for our company: Explore the world, invent your future.

The whole experience was mind opening, fun and inspiring and led to changes which improved our communication and overall company image.

We appreciate Radomir's and Inga's attention to detail and creative approach on improving our communication skills and opening up new opportunities.
