Jill Rohr

Religious Education Coordinator

I am a convert to the Catholic Faith having been confirmed shortly after my marriage 48 years ago. For the next 43 years I faithfully attended mass and made sure my child received the sacraments. Roughly five years ago, I made a commitment to myself to delve deeper into my “Catholic” faith or get out as I was truly not getting it. Small steps each year opened up my heart and mind to allow Jesus to come in. I learned a very valuable lesson. While God is with us always, he wants us to put forth effort to get to know him. He does not coerce you into faith but invites you. In other words you get out of it what you put into it and that is a relationship with him that I have always wanted, a relationship I believe to be at the heart of every one of us. Talking to Pattie one day as I was contemplating retirement, she asked me to keep in mind doing something with the church when I was no longer working a full-time job and this past winter I took her up on the invitation and I am now volunteering as Religious Education Coordinator, continuing to grow in faith as I witness the beautiful spirit of each and every one of you.

WHY DO YOU FEEL IT’S IMPORTANT TO TALK ABOUT GOD TO OUR CHILDREN AND TO OTHERS?

Kelly Green, Catechist, Kindergarten & 1st Grade

I am new to teaching the Catholic religion to our littlest parishioners. Three years ago, Mickie Richards had told me that there was a need for a Kindergarten-1st grade teacher. Since my son, Will, would be in my class, I told her that I would teach. I had no idea how to teach our faith to little ones. I began to think about how I was taught at that age. Of course, I was given a very firm foundation in faith being raised by my devout mother and father. I also had good examples watching my seven older siblings growing their faith. In fact, my oldest brother and sister are my Godparents. Wanting to deepen our faith, my parents send my siblings and I to school right here at St. Clement from 1 to 8th grade, my love and understanding of the Catholic faith grew. Whether I learned my love of hymns from Sr. Christina Marie or how to pray from Mrs. Brediger, or learned love and acceptance of all from Mrs. Dyrland, all of the teachers I had there molded and shaped my idea of what it is to be a good Catholic. Many times people don’t realize that they are a guide for others. When I returned to Holy Family Parish, I saw many people share their faith in many ways. Anytime someone gives of their time, talent or treasure, others take notice. They strive to be more like the people who are leading by example. Seeing all of my fellow PSR teachers’ passion for our kids to learn Catholicism serves as inspiration for me on my teaching journey. St. Augustine once said, “Each of us had something to learn from the others and something to teach in return.” Being the teacher of these little ones has not only taught me more about my faith, but it has taught me more about myself. There are weeks when I am not sure how I will fill the time with activities that will keep their minds engaged and learning about God’s love. With prayer and the determination to share the faith that my Mom and Dad started, my siblings enriched and my teachers fostered, I hope I give these kids the love of their faith to last for the rest of their lives.

Tia Jameson, Catechist, 2nd Grade & First Communion Preparation

Many of us learned through our own days in Catechism class that we were created to know, love, and serve God in this life, and to be forever happy with Him in the next.

If we want our children and others to love God, I think it’s important for them to have the opportunity to know God better. Once people understand the incredible and unique love God has for each of them through the study of the Bible and our Faith, service to God and to others seems to be a natural outpouring of that love. A life which has been spent in loving and serving God and others can then prepare us for life with Him forever in Heaven.

Paula Renner, 3rd and 4th Grade

Note from Pattie - Paula and her husband Jerry live and witness their lives to the Gospel every day. Their children, Jacob, Rylee, Isaac and Gabe have their parents as incredible role models of prayer, service and sacrifice. At the time of this publication, taking precedent was the care of Paula’s Mom, Alice Morris.

Andy Cregan, Catechist, 5th and 6th Grades

For those of you who don't know me, my name is Andy Cregan, my wife's name is Nancy, and we have 4 children—Nicolette, Melissa, Andrew and Ethan. All four of my children attended catechism at St. Clement/Holy Family Parish from 1st through 12th grade.

I began helping with this program when my oldest, Nicki, began 1st grade and now she is 27. I began teaching because of the role my Catholic education (8 years at Holy Cross Grade School, Euclid, Ohio and 4 years at St. Joseph High School, Cleveland, Ohio) played in molding me. I also felt that if I was sending four of my children through the catechism program of the Catholic Church, then I should be willing to help and participate as well.

When I was in grade school, we lived 100 yards from the Catholic Church and grade school. Our neighborhood was mostly Catholic, however many of my friends attended the public school. My mother for many years taught, what we then called PSR or CCD, which was always either on Monday or Wednesday evenings, and she always would take me with her to help. I remember she taught 7th and 8th grade over the years. When classes started up each year the students had quite the attitude, there were places they would rather be, but it would never fail that after a couple classes they lost the attitudes and willfully participated. My mother has always had a way of getting the message across without pleading or demanding responses, rather she got the message across through interaction and participation. She would say you are much more likely to remember a lesson that you enjoyed.

I have used this as a model and try to make class enjoyable, something the children want to participate in. There are so many outside influences fighting for these children's time today. My goal has always been taken from a manual I received at a seminar when I first started teaching, and that is to further each child's love of God and increase their understanding of the practice of their faith, their conversation, and participation. I am not overly concerned with the ability of students to recite verses from the bible, although I encourage they take time and read it, rather I am more concerned they are given examples and live it. I always tell them people will know you are Christian by your actions and your love. Thank you for allowing me to participate and learn with your children. And oh yeah, have a doughnut while we are at it.

Barb Genetín, Catechist, Junior High and High School

I think most people can agree that a faith life is a never ending process.

Mine began with two great parents that baptized and raised me as a Catholic. They were very devout, even through the loss of a 16 year old son, my brother, when I was 12. That event certainly made an impact and influenced me to "keep the faith" even during secularist college. I was truly blessed to meet a man (my husband, Greg) who was entrenched in the faith, if not more, as me. Raising six children can certainly make or break a faith. I'm pretty sure we survived!

I began teaching CCD approximately 16 years ago, mostly at the high school level with other various parent/teacher volunteers. One of the highlights during those early years was to attend a youth retreat at Franciscan University in Steubenville, Ohio. It was there during a mass of over 1000 students and chaperones in a prayerful, reflective moment the priest asked for anyone who wished to help youth should stand up. As I was praying and eyes closed, I stood up believing there were many others doing the same. When I opened my eyes and looked around, I found myself and one other person the only ones standing in this sea of people. I was mortified! My mind was screaming to sit down, but I knew I couldn't without embarrassing myself. I thought "what did I just do??"

From that point on I have been involved with teaching the youth. I believe teaching our youth about the Catholic faith is paramount! The volatility of our culture demands that we as a parish community - the priests, teachers, congregation members and mostly the PARENTS entrust time and effort in forging a strong faith in these young people to be the future of our church. I am committed to doing just that.

PRAYER IN AUTUMN

Good and generous Lord, You have once more brought the year full circle, through planting and growing and ripening to harvest time,
 and autumn.

We thank You for the sun and the wind, the rain and the dew, the minerals of the earth and all the plants that grow and all the beasts and birds of farm and field. We marvel at Your wonderful ways of bringing food from the earth
 for man's good.

Dear God, help us to use Your rich gifts as You want us to.
 Teach us to share them with our neighbor when he is in need. Make us see, in the marvelous succession of seasons, and in the growth and ripening of our crops,
 the merciful, generous hand
 of Your divine providence.

Help us to realize, too, that if we keep Your commandments and live according to the Inspirations of Your grace, we shall also reap a plentiful harvest in the autumn of our lifetime: a harvest that we will be able to enjoy for ever and ever, where no rust can destroy, nor blight spoil any least part of it.

Amen.
