Dear Potential Donor:

Audubon Peer to Peer Aid is a volunteer based, 501(c)3 providing support to Audubon Borough and neighboring communities since 2020. Our mission is to connect people in need with a community that can help.

Our organization started by taking requests from individuals and families that were in need and anonymously posting their request on social media asking the community to help. Volunteers collected donated items and delivered them to the requester. Our organization has grown exponentially over the past few years, and we now maintain a pantry providing non-perishable food and basic necessities to 31 communities in Camden County. We accept requests through calls, texts, email, and social media and our team of volunteers pack and deliver these requests typically in 1-3 days.

We rely primarily on food donations from the community to stock the pantry and frequently demand exceeds our supply. Our organization also requires financial support to cover operational costs including rent, insurance, and utility bills.

Audubon Peer to Peer Aid is currently fundraising for a Beef and Beer that we have planned for November 20th and we could use your help. This is one of our largest fundraising events to fund our food pantry. We are looking for businesses to sponsor our event with either food and beverage or monetary donations or baskets to raffle at the event. Your donation will help us ensure that we can continue helping those in need.

On behalf of Audubon Peer to Peer Aid, I thank you for your consideration and support.

Sincerely,

Kelli Aceto
