Who Will Stand Between the Dead and the Living?
By Elder Diane Harvell

Like many, my heart is saddened to say the least, concerning the current events of today. As I prayed, I heard the Lord say, "Sons of Korah" and so I searched the scriptures for the answer to the Lord's instruction and He directed me to the 16th chapter of Numbers.

It was amazing to me how quickly the Lord "heard my humble cry."

In short, the story within the 16th chapter of Numbers tells of Korah who had an important responsibility within the tabernacle, but he wasn't satisfied with that. He wanted to be a priest and challenged God's appointed Moses and Aaron and their priestly positions; thus he challenged God. Korah's sin is that he rebelled against God's authority to appoint as leaders' men of His own choosing.

Korah also influenced many others to go along with him in his revolt and God destroyed them all but by this time the congregation of Israel accused Moses and Aaron of having killed the people of the Lord. As a consequence, God slew 14,700 more people with a sudden plague. People began to die!

To stop the plague, Moses instructed Aaron to take incense from off the altar of the Lord and carry it quickly to the congregation of the people. And Aaron ran into the middle of the assembly (church), to make an atonement for the people; "And he stood between the dead and the living; and the plague was stopped."

Lesson: God is The Only One who has the authority to appoint leaders of His own choosing. Going against His authority brings horrible consequences, and many will suffer and die, but we the true leaders of God, must stand between the dead and the living and make an atonement for the sinful rebellion of man!

For me, it's no more church as usual, no more conferences, no more convocations, it's time to Stand Between the Dead and The Living and Pray like never before!

God Bless You All!

The Journey Outweighs The Goal

As we are well within the NEW YEAR of 2023, most people set goals for what they like to accomplish. As for me, I've always followed a simple process I'd like to share. It goes like this:

- Set the Goal.
- Remember, it's not about the goal as much as the journey.
- What is it that's going to keep me focused when times get tough?

I find it's more important to know why you'd like to accomplish the goal, what it means to you, and what you will feel like when completed. Is it for my mental health, physical health, educational enhancement, an act of service, or all of the above? For me, it's the process that provides future experience when drawing upon the steps, challenges, and successes. I've always remembered the journey offers the memorable substance behind the actual goal when accomplished.

This week, if you are one of those individuals who set goals for 2023, I encourage you to find out what will keep you focused and how much the journey will help you in your future endeavors. Following this act will keep you 'in the game' when times get tough.

My People Perish For Lack Of Knowledge

Min. Eric Hutson

In 2018, I took a leap of faith and ventured into the financial services field. I focused on life insurance where I discovered how much false information exists and how many people are being misled about financial matters. This drove me to become an expert on the subject.

I learned how I could help those who did not understand why life insurance is a necessity in every household. Through my study, I have gained knowledge that can and will help people obtain the right types and the amount of life insurance needed to cover the expenses following the death of a loved one.

Some of the keys to life insurance are knowing what type of policy you need, coverage amounts, and the number of beneficiaries. This is where enlightenment or education becomes necessary. This is also what differentiates me from the pack, making me stand out. I don't "sell insurance", I educate people.

I recall a time when I sat with a client and she felt confident that her insurance was the best, highlighting all the bells and whistles that were in her policy. So I said, "Great, but how about we call the company and make sure that you are fully covered?" She was more than happy to do so and once we did, she found that by allowing me to ask questions only an insurance professional would know to ask, she didn't have all that she thought she did. In fact, she didn't have enough coverage to protect her entire family at all. She received the information to make the most suitable choice.

In another instance, I met with a couple who had coverage through their employer (they both worked for the same company). After explaining the downsides to having all your insurance through your job, they allowed me to offer them a policy that provided more protection and flexibility. For example, if they left their jobs, they would not have been able to take their policies with them, nor would they have been able to keep their same price point with a company independently.

In both scenarios, all I did was educate my clients. I could go on and on with stories of how I've helped many families get the information they needed to put the proper protection in place out of my strong conviction that without knowledge, people perish.

Turn On The Light

Dr. C. A. Dangerfield II

It's sad that this world has become comfortable and complacent stumbling around in the dark. Hoping for a change but not willing to make one easy step for themselves. We have been given grace to cross the threshold in a new room (New Year), however we dragged the same old tired habits and conditions right along with us. Instead of embracing the blessing of the refresh and opportunity to start from a new space and perspective free from cluttered.

Where we have a space to begin again, turn off the old noise and listen to the soft still voice of wisdom in which you can hear within the quiet place and lock the door. Shut off all the old opinions get still and turn on the light switch so you can actually see your missed out blessings and find your way towards them. The instructions and promises have been present all this time. But we have been distracted and misdirected and you will realize this on your own. When you turn on the light switch and truly see what you have been missing. We all have our individual light switch that we simply must switch on.

I came that you might have life and that more abundantly. Thy word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my pathway. When open His word we illuminate our space and have opportunity to enjoy and treasure all that He intended for us. Come out of darkness into His marvelous light. Understand and embrace that He will supply all your needs according to His riches in glory. Look around you isn't your life just cluttered with stuff and 3/4 of it we never or slightly use. Stack up all over the place and you barely have room to move and then you accumulate more trying to keep up with trends deceiving yourself because you cannot break the cycle that has become a habit. So, my friend you are within a place of bondage a prisoner to oneself. Turn on the light switch allow the illumination so you can see. Stop wasting your time continually stumbling in dark. Don't let insanity consume you. Doing the same thing over and over again expecting a different result. Turn on the light switch embrace the new understanding that it will bring. If you are reading this and it is speaking to you. This is your invitation to a new beginning that you can appreciate. Turn on the light switch and truly experience life that you can truly see. Share your experience with other, but there is no need to tell you that because your excitement will drive you to do just that. Turn on the light switch come and share what you are now able to see and experience. Don't procrastination your future is a switch away!

Perception is the story of my life. (Part 3)

Linda Guest

My last relationship lasted 17 years. Her family became my family, especially after most of my family rejected me including my mother. I will NEVER forget my mom saying I was no longer her daughter. I always said that my partner's children may not have been born from my flesh, but they were born from my heart. We weren't just in a relationship, but she was also my best friend. Even after our relationship as a couple ended, she still was my best friend for another 3 years.

Because of a series of events towards the end of 2017, my life began a spiral downhill for me. By 2018 I found myself slowly slipping down that rabbit hole. I never imagined how dark and deep that hole was. My life was literally turned upside down. I lost what I thought was my family, my home, my job, some friends and even most of my possessions. Depression had invaded my life and stress had consumed my body. I didn't want to do anything but stay in bed all day moping and crying. My perception was I was no good. I questioned if I was ever saved, did I ever hear from God. I had made decisions that hurt people I loved and put someone close in danger spiritually. I had the blood of others on my hands. I was in a dark place and couldn't find my way out. Every negative thought, impression and attitude about myself all came to a head.

I developed a system with the person I was staying with. I knew by what time I had to get up, shower and be downstairs like I had been there all day, and everything was fine. I had no appetite and lost so much weight. My hair fell out in patches until I had to cut it all off to make it even. My perception was that I was nothing but a failure. I was a big disappointment to my family, my church family, my friends and most importantly to God. This time it wasn't just a thought, I had a plan to take my life. I knew when, where, and how. My perception was I didn't have anything or anyone to live for and I didn't deserve to live.

The perception of others of where I shouldn't be, God used to keep me alive.

I shared some of what I've been through with a cousin and my sister-in-law. My sister in law's response was "Girl you need therapy even if I have to pay for it!" Lol In January 2021 I started therapy with a person who is now my spiritual mother. After our first meeting she said ok, you and I are going to meet twice a week. On TV you see people going to therapy once a week, every 2 weeks, or once a month. My perception was darn I must be really screwed up if I must go twice a week. Little did I know, that was all a part of God's plan to get me where I am now. At the end of February, I started thinking about moving to Florida. I felt like that was where I was supposed to be. By the end of March, I had packed up my things and moved from Philadelphia where I was born and raised to Florida where the only person I knew was my cousin and her boyfriend.

God gave me such peace about Florida being where I'm supposed to be. Not long after moving here, God led me to my church home, now called City of Refuge.

I heard that Celebrate Recovery was having their launch, so I came just to be supportive. In the beginning I just came and didn't say anything. My perception was it's too much like the AA meetings I saw on tv and just couldn't get into it, but I kept coming. Celebrate Recovery continued my counseling and healing. Then came the step study. Every week I would remind them I didn't like step study, but again, I kept coming and was able to get my chip for completing the 12 steps. I will be honest, the inventory was the hardest yet very rewarding. It made me deal with things I had forgotten about or still hadn't really dealt with. The opportunity to make amends freed me in words that are hard to explain.

This book was extremely inspirational! I will keep it handy and read it over and over many times over. As the Executive Director of a high school leadership non-profit group, I will be encouraging our student members to read this book in its entirety, and I will be using it as a tool for our annual training program. # Health Tips for April

SGT. Nate Griffin

As with each month. I wish to focus on a particular avenue of health and wellness. This is to bring better awareness, information, and education to the body of Christ and the world as well. I believe that most of the illnesses we encounter are food based (our diet), with roots planted deep in a sedentary life/unhealthy supportive lifestyle. Not addressing these controllable issues head on and early. We often find ourselves in the prayer line in churches across the globe, He blees you with. This is a prime example of poor stewardship.

So, for this month, let us look at some helpful tips to guide us as keepers of the “body” of Christ. And as we move forward as examples of well-rounded righteousness in Christ, lets keep in mind that the world is watching and, we’re not really looking too well, honestly.

Since we are dealing with burnouts and mental breakdown. Let's look at some reason for getting tested if there is concern about one's mental status. Should you feel there is a change in your mental status. Please do not attempt to self-diagnose. Consult the aid of a qualified mental health specialist. In the black community, there seems to be a very strong stigmatism in regards to mental health and effective, reliable treatment. Here are some signs to look for if you detect any changes in your mental status.

- Avoidance of social situations or normal activities
- Changes in mood or dramatic mood swings
- Feeling anxious, worried, or fearful
- Feelings of worthlessness, irritability, anger, frustration

Turn on the Light Switch

Evang. Stacie Daniels

The Bible declares in the book of Genesis Chapter 1, that in the beginning God created heaven and the earth. We understand from the same passage of scripture that darkness inhabited the earth which was without form and empty. God spoke light into existence and in that very moment He established a natural and spiritual principle and order---the separation of light from darkness.

The message is clear throughout the Word of God that He is light and He has commanded us to be the light of the world. When we subscribe to the Gospel of Jesus Christ and allow Him to have dominion and reign in our lives, we become citizens of the kingdom of God. As a result, our behavior and lifestyle should conform to kingdom principles. We do not operate according to the worldly systems. The worldly systems are of the kingdom of darkness. Every kingdom has a king. The believer's king is Jesus Christ, Savior of the world. 1 Peter 2:9 teaches that He has called us out of darkness into the marvelous light. The kingdom of darkness ruler is Satan.

An imperative question to consider is the following: How do I turn the light switch on in such a dark world? First, we must realize that we emit the light of Christ in our daily living and conversation. Our response to life's challenges matter. God would desire that during circumstances and difficulties we remain joyful. The scripture declares in Nehemiah 8:10 that "...the joy of the Lord is your strength." When we exhibit joy it is not only pleasing to God but others take notice. Our joy will be an encouragement to us on our journey as well as to others. In addition, it is a drawing card for others into the kingdom of God. Do not focus on the situation but on the goodness of God. Keep a praise on your lips and a joyful melody in your heart. The scripture declares in Isaiah 40:31 "But they that wait on the Lord shall renew their strength; they shall mount up with wings as eagles, they shall run, and not be weary; and they shall walk, and not faint." Secondly, we understand that light and dark does not mix. According to John 17: 16, Jesus made it clear that believers are in the world but not of the world. There are other scripture references that can be given in this instance as well. How will unbelievers know what the light looks like if we all look and act the same? That does not mean the believer should have a self-righteous attitude or holier than thou persona. It means that you will exhibit Christ like behavior, reactions, and language. How we represent Jesus Christ matters. He made it clear that it matters in scripture. Jesus was radical in His teaching. Who we associate ourselves with, the places that our feet trod, our actions, language, and how we interact are all a reflection of His light. Jesus was compassionate, giving, loving, honest, humble, kind, and proclaimed that His kingdom was not of this world. There was no mistaking that Jesus was THEE most brilliant light ever seen to walk the earth. He had multitudes flock to Him without any social media profile, website, or business cards. Thirdly, when we simply share the news of the gospel, we are sharing the light. There is a true urgent need to switch the light switch on. When we do, God will allow bigger doors of opportunity to open for us so we can continue to share the good news abroad and our unique giftings and talents can be displayed. Be encouraged my brothers and sisters to continue to not only walk in the light but BE THE LIGHT that He has commissioned you to be.

Understanding

Dr. C. A. Dangerfield II

Our society these days is plagued with a quite number of substantial downfalls and shortcomings. Primarily for a number of reasons. With each generation it grows and grows because we do things according to our own knowledge, will and understand. Navigating so far left to God's plan and purpose for our lives because we have become so distracted. It should be scary that our main source is not always our greatest resource until we are deep in trouble, then we seek Him as our last result. Simply because we had not taken the time to nurture our relationship with our heavenly father and creator much like the way we do with our natural parents in today's society.

Just like I had to do for myself take an evaluation of my principles and motives being brutally transparent with myself. After identifying the shortcomings and my areas of opportunity I started working on for the necessary changes so that I would be in alignment with the purpose and will that God has for my life. I had to admit and repent for my being out of place, at that point it becomes real, personal and important that we do not deceive ourselves.

Confidence is one thing but malice and malicious behavior towards another clearly violates the love thy neighbor commandment of God and causes us to follow delusional thinking and possessing the wrong spirit that places us within a reprobate mindset. Where a prideful spirit takes possession and principles of God are not followed. Our mindset becomes all about self and less about others. They become our expendable pawns on the chessboard of life that we sacrifice them on the journey to gain our so-called self-provenance at any cost. At this point one has become blind to others, treading without remorse. Devastating and destroying, til such time when they encounter His Word. Which will bring judgment to absolute light.

Why? Ultimate power belongs to God and is God's. As man we must gain that understanding. Reprobate mindset is when we fail drastically in this understanding and grasp that we do not possess any powers unless God Himself allows and that is with humility on our part. Jesus demonstrates this even unto death, His compassion for a repenting soul at the last moments of their life. He even had two examples of last-minute choices and mindsets on both sides of Him. Still proving His Word. Isaiah 55 instructs us in the things of God as long as I live. I continue to learn as I open the book of Light which is the book of life apply the principles of His Word, which is the major transforming power within my days. Instilling and proving that His Word will not return unto Him. See the Word for yourself as He transforms your life too.

Do we really understand our relationship with God?

Dr C.A. Dangerfield II

As I have conversations daily, I tend to question our understanding of who exactly God is to mankind. For the most part sometimes, I feel it is as if mankind views God as an option. One they can eventually get around to acknowledging when they have the time to. That mindset and trend of thought I find detrimental and extremely dangerous for participating in eternity.

Man may read about history but how much of it do we really understand and comprehend. Literal things have happened throughout history. Brought on by a lot of things, caused and created by other things. I like to refer to them as cause and effect. Or better still obedience vs disobedience which manifests a universal response to the action.

But in spite of negative repercussion somehow man has not learned anything from others consequences and decides to repeat said action thinking that the end results will change. Well, these are those who have failed in compliance to the will of God. Whereby defiance is clearly not an option now or ever. Remember history has already proven that facts regarding a defiant mindset. A wise man will reference history and acknowledge the wrong outcomes, check with the Word of God and make better choices for the future.

Our reward and benefits lay in the fact that we trust and believe God at His Word. Awaiting His promises for our steadfastness and obedience to His will. This ensures others too can see and appreciate the witness and wonder of His Glory as demonstrates within our lives.

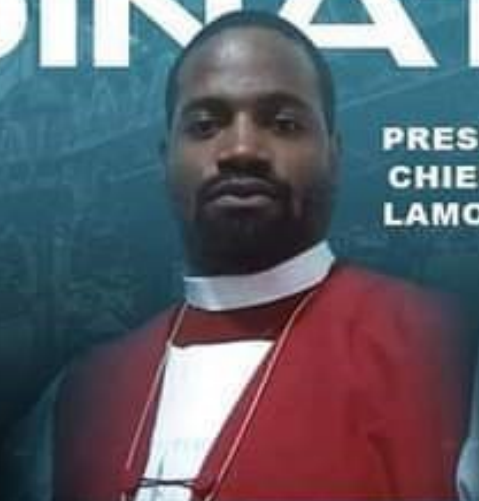

Having that realization that everything written within the Bible is substantial to our everyday existence. Our testimonies our essential to the fact the He is omnipresent and His Word is true. It doesn't take 99 incidents to prove that God's impact on our life's is real. The fact that He is consistent with His promises that is mind-blowing sometime to most when you can see and feel His presence as He has step in our behalf. So, I encourage you to rub into Him and not from Him. Learn what is meant by blessed assurance Jesus is mine. Then there will never be any void when you have faith and believe. Trust in the Lord with all thine heart and live out His principles, proving what is that good, acceptable and perfect will of God.
