Profiled by The Lancet for a lifelong commitment to gender equality and youth engagement.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Principal and Owner, Gender Equality Solutions, October, 2017-present.

Provide strategic advisory services to donors, governments, non-governmental organizations, multilateral institutions and others to advance gender equality and adolescent health and wellbeing globally through programs, policies, strategies and investments. Work includes: synthesizing evidence; reviewing grant portfolios; evaluating grant proposals and managing grants; writing briefs, talking points, articles, proposals and reports; conducting interviews; developing and delivering presentations; organizing and facilitating meetings, trainings, workshops and webinars; and advising on gender, including integration into programs and policies. Clients have included Girls Not Brides, the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, Grand Challenges Canada, the Overseas Development Institute, the University of Melbourne and the Lancet Standing Commission on Adolescent Health and Wellbeing, among others.

Senior Director, Global Health, Youth and Development, International Center for Research on Women, Washington, DC. 2012-2017.

Led a robust research and advocacy portfolio and team of experts working on various issues at the intersections between population, development, and women's and youth empowerment, including sexual and reproductive health and rights, child marriage, adolescent development, youth leadership, and fertility and demographics. Directed and/or served as a Senior Technical Advisor on a number of high-profile research and advocacy projects funded by various donors, including USAID, the World Bank, DFID, and the Gates, Hewlett and Packard Foundations, among others. Managed and grew the portfolio's research, advocacy, communications and program and business development work. Acted as a spokesperson for the organization, liaised with a high-level board of directors and served on the senior management team.

Vice President, Global Health, Public Health Institute, Washington, DC. 2010-2012.

Created a new Global Health Department and established a Washington, DC office for a $100 million/year, 620-person non-profit organization. Designed and implemented a strategic plan that built the capacity of the organization to expand its global health engagement through research, programmatic and policy work. Acted as the organization's spokesperson and liaison on global health issues with governments, the media, federal agencies, foundations, non-profit organizations, universities and others. Supervised 15 principal investigators and project directors and additional staff toward an ambitious organizational vision. Facilitated collaboration and information-sharing among a diverse range of global health programs and professionals, managed global health advocacy efforts, and recruited new staff and projects to join the organization. Led writing and speaking engagements on a range of global health issues. Engaged with the board of directors and served on the organization's senior management team.

Senior Program Officer, The Summit Foundation, Washington, DC. 2001- 2010.

Directed the foundation's Global Population and Youth Leadership Program. Designed and implemented grantmaking strategies to mobilize political and financial support and resources for sexual and reproductive health and rights (SRHR) in low and middle income countries, as well as for targeted adolescent SRHR programs in Central America. Researched, developed, funded and evaluated projects to advance SRHR through advocacy, service delivery and other strategies. Developed and maintained partnerships with a diverse range of non-governmental organizations from the global North and South, as well as with private, public, bilateral and multilateral donor agencies. Served as liaison with a ten-member Board of Directors and with the reproductive health and rights community.

Chair, Funders Network on Population, Reproductive Health & Rights, 2007-2009.

Oversaw the functions of the Network to ensure the efficient and effective coordination of grantmaking and advocacy strategies across some 60 public and private foundations, which collectively invest over $1.1 billion annually in the field. Led the organization's strategic planning efforts and supervised the implementation of its $600,000 budget and the operations of its three full-time staff and 11-member Board of Directors.

Program Officer, Bureau of Population, Refugees and Migration, United States Department of State, Washington, DC. 1998-2001.

Analyzed international, regional and country level population and reproductive health programs. Developed recommendations for senior officials, engaged in public outreach activities, coordinated and led interagency meetings, and worked closely with the U.S. Agency for International Development, non-governmental and international organizations, including UNFPA, to advance the role of the United States as a global leader on population, reproductive health and women's rights. Developed, monitored and evaluated reproductive health and refugee assistance programs for the U.S. government and international and non-governmental organizations. Served as the U.S. Officer-in-Charge for the five-year review of the International Conference on Population and Development, including as an official delegate to United Nations negotiations.

Special Assistant, Under Secretary of State for Global Affairs Tim Wirth, United States Department of State, Washington, DC. 1997-1998.

Wrote press guidance and speeches and served as a liaison to the media and non-governmental organizations. Oversaw the Under Secretary's relationships with the Department's Bureau of Democracy, Human Rights and Labor; Bureau of Oceans and International Environmental and Scientific Affairs; and liaised with the Office of International Women's Issues. Advanced the status of science and health issues by advising senior officials, developing and implementing a media strategy and initiating a National Academies of Science study on the status of science and health at State.

Marketing Director, National Aeronautics and Space Administration (NASA), Moffett Federal Airfield, CA. 1994-1997.

Directed marketing and public affairs activities at the former Naval Air Station. Wrote and implemented strategic marketing and outreach plans. Supervised public affairs consultants and a team of engineers to lead the production of an environmental assessment. Acted as a spokesperson for NASA, coordinated and provided written and oral presentations for the media and at public hearings, and negotiated legal and policy agreements with local, state and federal government officials.

International Relations Specialist, National Aeronautics and Space Administration, Washington, DC. 1992-1994.

Enabled NASA's cooperative activities with European and former Soviet nations through research, advising government and industry experts, writing and negotiating international agreements and coordinating plans with various government agencies. Represented NASA in global science and technology negotiations.

Legislative Fellow, United States Senator Joseph R. Biden (D-DE), Washington, DC. Winter, 1993.

Presidential Management Fellow on assignment from NASA. Advised the senator on foreign policy, national security and trade issues. Wrote comprehensive reports and statements on foreign affairs and defense issues for committee hearings, constituent meetings and press conferences. Met with and provided briefings to constituents.

Research Assistant to Professor Madeleine Albright, Georgetown University and the Center for National Policy, Washington, DC. 1991-1992.

Collected and analyzed information on politics in Europe and the former Soviet Union for the professor's research projects. Prepared class materials and graded student papers. Coordinated a project at the Center reviewing Europe-related programs at U.S. research organizations.
