Horsethief Reservoir

Fishing and Camping Area

Owned and managed by the Idaho Department of Fish and Game (F&G), Horsethief Dam and Reservoir were constructed in 1967 to provide a quality fishing experience for visitors. This 452-acre property and 270-acre reservoir have become a favorite destination. Catchable-sized rainbow trout and fingerling brown trout are stocked regularly and provide great fishing.

Recently, camping use has increased substantially. To preserve the scenic beauty of the area, protect wildlife habitat, and ensure a quality experience for visitors, a number of improvements and changes have occurred or will be occurring shortly. Foremost amongst these changes is the implementation of a camping fee ($20/site/night) and development of an experimental partnership with the YMCA to manage camping and the campground area. No fees will be charged for general parking, boat ramp, or day use.

In short, IDFG will retain ownership of the property, reservoir, and infrastructure as well as retain its current role regarding fisheries, infrastructure and water management. The YMCA will transition to the lead in campground management. Changes will allow the YMCA to hire a full-time staffer to oversee the Y-Camp, to manage campground hosts, and to respond to problem situations at both facilities. Furthermore, collected fees will be re-invested, in Horsethief improvements. In future years, plans call for implementation of a reservation system and improved campsites.

While some users may find the new fees troubling, we hope that better maintenance and future improvements will help ensure a safe and family-friendly experience for those who enjoy this high-quality fishing and camping area.
