

The United States of America was built on the backs of Black Americans, yet policy after policy has been designed to give unequal benefits and privileges to White Americans. We clearly see this inequality today.

When we say "the system is broken" we aren't being accurate. It was built this way. One of the many ways that is manifested is through the killing of unarmed Black Americans by police officers.

TJ Rumler Consulting will always be dedicated to breaking down systems of oppression and inequality through education, advocacy, and service.
