PFF Oline Rank #17th In 2019

The Giants interior offensive line is better is very good. The exterior of the line, however, is pretty terrible. Nate Solder was supposed to be a massive upgrade since coming over from the Patriots, and he has been anything but an upgrade to this offensive line. With that said, the addition of Andrew Thomas via the draft may begin the process of making this line formidable. Let's hope for Saquan Barkley's health and longevity. This line improves this 2020 season.
