PFF Oline Rank #19 In 2019

I have to be completely honest. The Vikings line was not good last year. I know what you are thinking Dalvin Cook and Alexander Mattison were great last season while running the ball, and Kirk Cousins had a pretty good year. What I say to that is that Gary Kubiak's run attack opened up holes, and Kirk Cousins has a quick release and is accurate with the football. The offensive line was not very good. Garret Bradberry was supposed to help at the center position but played pretty terribly all season. Both guards Pat Elfein and Dakota Dozier played terribly, and Riley Reiff and Brian O'Neill Played just good enough to hold up this line. With that said, "I DON'T CARE." This offensive line could be terrible, and I am still okay with drafting all the skill players on this team. Gary Kubiak is a genius offensive mind and will find a way to have this offensive line make holes for Davin Cook to take advantage of all season long.
