Therapy Services - Sliding Fee/Cash Pay Scale

Root to Rise Psychological Services recognizes that therapy may be financially difficult for people in certain circumstances. To promote equity and inclusiveness among service seekers, we have incorporated a sliding fee scale. Sliding scale fees for therapy refer to treatment priced by each person's income and dependents. The purpose of this fee structure is to help make therapy more affordable for people living at a lower income level. A sliding fee scale may be ideal for clients who don't have health insurance and need to pay in cash.

We ask that all service seekers approach this service with integrity and strive to report your income as accurately as possible to the best of your knowledge.

Therapy services sliding fee scale is applied per 50-minute session.

Household Income		Family Size
Monthly	Annual	1	2	3+
$0 - 3,333	$0 - 40,000	$55	$50	$50
$3,334 - 5,000	$40,001 - 60,000	$75	$65	$55
$5,001 - 6,666	$60,001 - 80,000	$85	$75	$65
$6,667 - 8,333	$80,001 - 99,999	$100	$90	$80
$8,334+	$100,000+	$125	$125	$125

If you do not have health insurance and feel you are a candidate for a reduced fee, please complete and return the Sliding Fee Scale - Confidential Application form.
