

PRESENTS..

HORSE POWERED READING®

WHAT IS HORSE POWERED READING?

Horse Powered Reading® (HPR) is a science based experiential learning program focused on the student's natural curiosity and determination to help gain confidence, motivation, and overcome reading challenges. By integrating equine assisted learning, social emotional learning, and academics, Horse Powered Reading® helps students of all ages build self-efficacy and excitement for learning. During sessions, students are allowed to make discoveries through activities using props to aid learning. Students and their reading partner (horse), interact providing the facilitator insight into what they are experiencing inside and what patterns are working or not working for them. That interplay allows for profound learning to take place. Through this process, the horse creates an opportunity for immediate feedback and experiential learning to take place.

WHY HORSES?

- Horses have distinct personalities and defined social roles within the herd, allowing students to identify and form connections with them.
- Horses help us reflect on how we approach relationships, learning, and challenges.
- Horses are prey animals, which makes them extremely sensitive to their environment. They react to our body language and cues.
- They give very good insight to how a student is experiencing emotionally during a session.
- Horses allow for movement during a session.

~Located in beautiful Tawas City~

1st camp: June 16-17

email for information

989-305-1081

www.palominohope.org

laurelgreene@palominohope.org

LAUREL GREENE

Certified Facilitator of HPR
22 year public school teacher

"This is going to change how people view teaching and learning reading. This is the program I have been waiting to find for so long. Palomino Hope is proud to bring this to Mid and Northern Michigan. "