As the new sets of PSME WRSA JC 2024 BOT's kickstart their individual charge and responsibilities towards the organization, it can be a challenging endeavor ahead. New BOT's, and even the previous officers are often faced with the difficult responsibilities of leading and managing their task.

They have to find time for the organization and need to manage their schedule. In addition, they have to sacrifice a portion of their own time in order to be service to the organization.

In return, after completing their task successfully, members may feel satisfied that they have contributed to the organization.
