

Zaak has been a decorated professional writer for over thirty years. As a member of the esteemed Dramatist Guild, his range of acclaim and awards has reached from self- help magazine articles, screenplays to theatrical productions. Woven throughout his numerous works has been a rooted concern for all people—especially those who are downtrodden, often disenfranchised, giving them hope for a brighter future for themselves.

His great grandfather was a southern slave. Despite obvious obstacles, his father was elevated to the rank of Captain in the United States Army. His uncle was an original Tuskegee Airmen, having made it to the rank of Colonel in the United States Air Force. No one loves America more than Zaak Faran. He lives in New Jersey, divorced with no children.
