THE SWIS DIFFERENCE

Choice, Pace & Levels of Complexity

Choice represents the student choosing how to learn. The choice is never not to work; the choice is how to get the work done. Students choose which Teaching Style to use and then how to complete the objectives. One student may choose to create a game, another student may make a power point presentation, while still another may choose to create a graph with documentation. How they do their work is up to them, but they must meet their own benchmark in neatness, depth and understanding.

Pacing is the speed at which the student is working. Students work at different paces: what takes one student 10 minutes to complete may take another student 30 minutes. Holding back the student that does it faster is not fair but, neither is rushing the student that needs the extra time. Through the objectives students accomplish as many objectives as they can before the class-time is over. The days objectives are to be completed on that day however, if you finish those before class ends, you continue on with the next day's work and so on. This will lead to earned time. The timeline is set to the Command students to ensure students complete the Alberta Program of Studies.

Levels of complexity is the degree of difficulty of the student's work. Some students want to know everything they can about a specific subject while others are content to know just the basics. Objectives and Teaching Styles allow students to take concepts as deep as they wish while still covering the required information. A pupil gifted in one area is no longer held back until others catch up. If challenged in a subject area, your child is not rushed nor denied the opportunity to form the skills necessary for future success.

Community of Learners

The Community of Learners is an essential part of the Self Directed Learning method. It is created by encouraging students to work collaboratively, acknowledge and utilize the individual talents of their peers, and share their learning with one another. Each student is given an equal position within the community and a sense of respect is instilled from the beginning. Within the Community of Learners we create a welcoming, safe and caring environment that enables students to gain self-confidence as a valued member of the SWIS family.

Teaching Styles

Teaching Styles are part of a system where the student tells the teacher what they need from the teacher to have successes in learning. Each Teaching Style has its own set of guidelines for both the teacher and student to work most effectively. The five Teaching Styles are:

Command

- Student listens to the lesson.
- They do the lesson exactly as they are told.
- The assigned work has to be completed in class.
- Students are allowed to leave the command area if they have permission

Task

- Similar to Command.
- Student is given more choice in how they complete their objectives.
- They must finish their work at the same time or ahead of the command group.

Peer Partner

- Student chooses a partner that they can work well with.
- They listen to the lesson if necessary.
- They must finish their work at the same time or ahead of the command group.
- Each student must provide an individual product.
- The student must make good choices.

Student Teacher Contract

- The contract must be written by the student and signed by the teacher.
- It must include objectives (what, when and how they will be completed).
- Students can listen to the lesson if necessary.
- Their work must be finished at the same time or ahead of the command lesson.

Self-Directed

- Student works on their own.
- They must find their own resources.
- Students must be finished at the same time or ahead of the command lesson.

Objectives

Objectives for students' learning at SWIS are in accordance with the Alberta Program of Studies, and are updated every school year. The specific skills and concepts to be learned, from Kindergarten to Grade 12, are taken directly from the program of studies for each subject area.

Benchmarks

What is a benchmark?

Benchmarks are academic goals (percentages) set by teachers with collaboration with students and parents. Beginning in Grade 4, students work towards their academic goals and are encouraged to rewrite perception checks if they do not meet their benchmark.

How do rewrites work?

If a student does not meet their benchmark, they have the option to write another test or complete another assessment on the same concepts after they have met with the teacher and reviewed concepts that were not solidified. It is at the teacher's discretion whether a student is able to rewrite an assessment.

Can benchmarks be modified?

Yes, if a student is consistently not meeting or exceeding their benchmark, a meeting will take place between the teacher, student and parent/guardian to discuss modifying their benchmark.

Assessment and Reporting

Students are regularly assessed through formal and informal methods in all subject areas. They will be differentiated to enable students to learn how to complete a variety of assessments, such as written tests, presentations, projects, experiments, and informal discussions.

Student, parents and guardians will receive feedback in the form of student-led interviews (Grade K-3), parent-teacher conferences (Grade 4-12), two interim report cards (percentage-based) and two report cards (anecdotal notes and percentage).

Student Code of Conduct

Procedure to Report an Absence

If your child will be absent from school, it is important the classroom teacher is informed of the absence to ensure accurate attendance records.

E-mail your child's teacher and include the following information:

- a) Full Name of child
- b) Date/Time of Absence and length of absence, if known.
- c) Reason for the absence

Health and Wellness

We ask that if a student has a contagious illness, he/she does not come to school that day, in order to prevent the spread of the infection.

In general, a child is too sick to attend school if:

- The child is unable to participate in routine activities (including going outside for recess/physical activity).
- The child requires intensive care beyond what a teacher can provide without compromising the needs of other students and members of the community.
- The child's presence poses an increased risk to other children and adults with whom he/she may come in contact.

SWIS highly recommends that children who display evidence of the following symptoms refrain from attending school:

- A temperature of 101°F (38.3°C) or above
- Vomiting or diarrhea within the past 24 hours
- Severe nasal and chest congestion or uncontrollable coughing
- Highly contagious viruses, such as strep throat, etc.

We follow the recommendations of the Calgary Health Regional Authority regarding the contagious stage of any communicable disease and when a child may be readmitted into the community after beginning treatment. It is in the community's best interest to ensure that shared spaces are as safe and healthy as possible.

If a student becomes ill while at school, the student will be made to feel as comfortable as possible, and the parent(s) will be called. If we cannot reach the parent and we deem that the student is in distress, the emergency contact will be phoned. Please ensure that the front office has all contact information up to date.

Guidelines for Returning to School

A child must be free of fever, vomiting, and diarrhea for at least 24 hours and no longer be in the contagious stage of a communicable disease. In order to return to school after a severe illness, a doctor's note may be require.

Public Health

Alberta Health Services offers its expertise to SWIS students. These services include inoculations, health education presentations, and regular visits and consultations by the school nurse. Consent forms must be filled out before any immunizations area administered. If you do not wish to consent, please attach a note to the consent form stating that this is the case. Parents may be contacted by the AHS from time to time.

Allergy Awareness Policy

Summit West acknowledges that due to current food processing practices, it is impractical to eliminate nuts and nut products entirely from an environment where there is food. The emphasis is therefore on raising awareness and adopting the reasonable procedures regarding nut awareness.

All students and families from each classroom will be made aware of any food-related allergies affecting students in that classroom so they can be cognizant of these allergies when packing snacks and lunches. A sign will also be posted on the outside and inside of the classroom indicating any student allergies. If there are no allergies in a classroom, students will be allowed to bring any food items for snack and such. However, if a student has food-related allergies, all students in the school will demonstrate respect for the student and refrain from bringing any foods that trigger any allergies into the classroom.

Homework

Students are responsible to for completing their objectives and maintaining their pace of study even if they are absent from school.

Summit West Independent School provides students with choice in their learning style and teaching style, which enables them to maximize the use of their time while at school. Students can work complete all of their school work in class and work ahead to reduce homework requirements. However, if a student does not complete required objectives during school hours, they will be expected to complete school work at home. It is recommended that all students read every night and study prior to assessments.

- bullying, harassment, threat and intimidation

3. Disrespect or lack of cooperation;

Consequences

Step 1: Minor Offences

Staff members handle the incident directly and consequences are established.

Step 2: Major Offences

Students write an Action Plan to resolve the problem. The teacher will make anecdotal notes on the back of the action plan and parents will receive a copy of the student's Action Plan. Student, teacher and parent signatures are required on the Action Plan. A copy of the Action Plan is kept in the student's file. In extreme circumstances, parents are notified immediately and the student may face an in-school suspension.

Repeat offences or any single offence deemed serious enough will result in suspension from school. Any student who chooses to behave in such a manner can be suspended by the Principal for up to five days. Parents will be notified and police contacted (if required).

A re-admission meeting or expulsion hearing with the board of directors may be necessary when this step is taken. Parent(s) must meet with the Principal, the Executive Director, and, depending on the severity, the Board of Directors. A Behaviour Contract is drawn up between the parents and the student and approved by the school board for readmission. Placement in another school or program may be recommended.

Appeals

Parents are encouraged to bring concerns, questions, and suggestions directly to the school in accordance with the procedure outlined under Steps of Communication. While we may not always have solutions, we will promise our best efforts to be understanding, honest, and accommodating. Open and honest communication is the best way to keep the relationship positive.

Communication Plan

The most efficient steps to communicate at SWIS are:

First Contact: Teacher or Department Head;

Second Contact: Principal;

Third Contact: Executive Director;

Fourth Contact: Board of Directors
