Illinois Problem Gambling Bill Gets Unanimous Approval In Senate

After rewriting most of the bill

A bill addressing problem gambling received unanimous approval, 54-0, from the Illinois Senate last week. If passed, the bill would force Illinois sportsbooks to provide bettors with hourly pop-up messages informing how much they've wagered.

SB 1508 would implement a few rules for IL sportsbooks. One is that a pop-up message must appear every hour after a player logs in to make the player aware of how much they've bet.

That pop-up would include hyperlinks and phone numbers to Illinois problem gambling resource information. This would make it easier than ever for those struggling with problem gambling to find help. READ
