Parent Involvement

WHAT DO WE KNOW from U.S. and International Studies of Family and Community Involvement?

- Parents vary in how much they presently are involved.
- Parents are concerned about their children's success in school.
- Students need multiple sources of support to succeed in school and in life.
- Schools must reach out in order to involve all families.
- Some teachers and administrators are initially resistant to increasing family involvement.
- Teachers and administrators in schools and districts need inservice, preservice, and advanced education on partnerships.
- Subject-specific practices involve families in ways that directly assist students' learning and success.
- Partnership programs are most effective if they are research-based, customized for each community, evaluated, and continually improved to help meet important goals for students.

What the Research Says

- Just about all families care about their children, want them to succeed, and are eager to obtain better information from schools and communities so as to remain good partners in their children's education.

- Just about all teachers and administrators would like to involve families, but many do not know how to go about building positive and productive programs and are consequently fearful about trying.

What the Research Says

- Partnerships tend to decline across the grades...
- Affluent communities currently have more positive family involvement...
- Schools in more economically depressed communities make more contacts with families about the problems and difficulties their children are having...
- Single parents who are employed outside the home, parents who live far from the school, and fathers are less involved...

Example of Parent Involvement

What is important to know about school, family, and community partnerships?

Not only THAT partnerships contribute to good schools and successful students

But also WHAT is needed in an excellent partnership program?

and... HOW to organize and sustain high-quality and effective programs of family and community involvement.

Results of Research

For STUDENTS

- Higher grades and test scores
- Better attendance
- Improved behavior at home and at school
- Better social skills and adjustment to school
- More classes passed and credits earned
- Increased enrollment in more challenging academic programs and graduation on time

Results of Research

For PARENTS

- ❁ Stronger sense of support from school and other parents
- ❁ More awareness of student progress and effective responses to problems
- ❁ Increased self confidence about guiding student through school
- ❁ Appreciation of teachers' work and skills
- ❁ Increased feeling of ownership of school

Results of Research

For TEACHERS

- ❁ Increased respect for families' strengths and efforts
- ❁ Increased understanding of families goals for their children
- ❁ Greater readiness to involve all families in new ways
- ❁ Use of community resources to enrich students' experiences
- ❁ Increased satisfaction with teaching

Mason County Survey Spring 2010

Mason County District Survey Spring 2010

Mason County Schools mailed a Parent Survey out to all parents in Spring 2010. The survey contained a self-addressed stamp envelope allowing parents to return the survey without cost. Three hundred twenty five elementary surveys and two hundred forty seven secondary surveys were returned for a total of 572 surveys county-wide.

Elementary Results

	Percent Agree	Percent Disagree
Academic Excellence	82%	18%
School Resources	87%	13%
Life Skills Training	84%	16%
School Environment	91%	9%
Parent-School Communication	78%	22%
Parent Involvement	86%	14%

Secondary Results

	Percent Agree	Percent Disagree
Academic Excellence	75%	25%
School Resources	79%	21%
Life Skills Training	68%	32%
School Environment	76%	24%
Parent-School Communication	57%	43%
Parent Involvement	65%	35%

THE KEYS TO SUCCESSFUL SCHOOL-FAMILY-COMMUNITY PARTNERSHIPS

EPSTEIN'S SIX TYPES OF INVOLVEMENT

Type 1

PARENTING: Assist families in understanding child and adolescent development, and in setting home conditions that support children as students at each age and grade level. Assist schools in understanding families.

Type 2

COMMUNICATING: Communicate with families about school programs and student progress through effective school-to-home and home-to-school communications.

Type 3

VOLUNTEERING: Improve recruitment, training, work, and schedules to involve families as volunteers and audiences at school or in other locations to support students and school programs.

Type 4

LEARNING AT HOME: Involve families with their children in learning activities at home, including homework, other curriculum-related activities, and individual course and program decisions.

Type 5

DECISION MAKING: Include families as participants in school decisions, governance, and advocacy through PTA/PTO, school councils, committees, action teams, and other parent organizations.

Type 6

COLLABORATING WITH COMMUNITY: Coordinate resources and services for students, families, and the school with businesses, agencies, and other groups, and provide services to the community.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

1. Parenting – Basic Responsibilities of Families

Help all families establish home environments to support children as students.

Sample practices

- Suggestions for home conditions that support learning at each grade level.
- Workshops, videotapes, computerized telephone messages on parenting and child rearing at teach age and grade level.
- Parent education and other courses or training for parents
- Family support programs to assist families with health, nutrition, and other services.
- Home visits at transition points to pre-school, elementary, middle, and high school. Neighborhood meetings to help families understand schools and to help schools understand families.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

1. Parenting – Basic Responsibilities of Families

Help all families establish home environments to support children as students.

Challenges

- Provide information to all families who want it or who need it, not just to the few who can attend workshops or meetings.
- Enable families to share information with schools about culture, background, children's talents and needs.
- Make sure that all information for and from families is clear, usable, and linked to children's success in school

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

2. Communicating

Design effective forms of school-to-home communications about school programs and children's progress.

Sample Practices

- Conferences with every parent at least once a year.
- Language translators to assist families as needed.
- Weekly or monthly folders of student work sent home for review and comments.
- Parent/student pickup of report card, with conferences on improving grades.
- Clear information on choosing schools or courses, programs, and activities within schools.
- Clear information on all school policies, programs and reforms.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

2. Communicating

Design effective forms of school-to-home communications about school programs and children's progress.

Challenges

- Review the readability, clarity, form and frequency of all memos, notices and other print and non-print communications.
- Consider parents who do not speak English well, do not read well, or need large type.
- Review the quality of major communications (newsletters, report cards, conference schedules)
- Establish clear two-way channels for communications from home to school and from school to home.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

3. Volunteering

Recruit and organize parent help and support.

Sample Practices

- School and classroom volunteer programs to help teachers, administrators, students and other parents.
- Parent room or family center for volunteer work, meetings, resources for families.
- Annual postcard survey to identify all available talents, times and locations of volunteers.
- Class parent, telephone tree, or other structures to provide all families with needed information.
- Parent patrols or other activities to aid safety and operation of school programs.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

3. Volunteering

Recruit and organize parent help and support.

Challenges

- Recruit volunteers widely so that all families know that their time and talents are welcome.
- Make flexible schedules for volunteers, assemblies, and events to enable parents who work to participate.
- Organize volunteer work: provide training; match time and talent with school, teacher, and student needs; and recognize efforts so that participants are productive.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

4. Learning at Home

Provide information and ideas to families about how to help students at home with homework and other curriculum-related activities, decisions, and planning.

Sample Practices

- Information for families on skills required for students in all subjects at each grade.
- Information on homework policies and how to monitor and discuss schoolwork at home.
- Information on how to assist students to improve skills on various class and school assignments.
- Regular schedule of homework that requires students to discuss and interact with families on what they are learning in class.
- Calendars with activities for parents and students at home.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

4. Learning at Home

Provide information and ideas to families about how to help students at home with homework and other curriculum-related activities, decisions, and planning.

Challenges

- Design and organize a regular schedule of interactive homework that give students responsibility for discussing important things they are learning.
- Coordinate family linked homework activities, if students have several teachers.
- Involve families and their children in all-important curriculum-related decisions.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

5. Decision Making

Include parents in school decisions, developing parent leaders and representatives.

Sample Practices

- Active PTA/PTO or other parent organizations, advisory councils or committees.
- Independent advocacy groups to lobby and work for school reform and improvements.
- District-level councils and committees for family and community involvement.
- Information on school or local elections for school representatives.
- Networks to link all families with parent representatives.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

5. Decision Making

Include parents in school decisions, developing parent leaders and representatives.

Challenges

- Include parent leaders from all racial, ethnic, socioeconomic and other groups in the school.
- Offer trainings to enable leaders to serve as representatives of other families, with input from and return of information to all parents.
- Include students (along with parents) in decision-making groups.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

6. Collaborating with Community Identify and integrate resources and services from the community to strengthen school programs, family practices, and student learning and development.

Sample Practices

- Information for students and families on community health, cultural, and recreational, social support and other programs or services.
- Information on community activities that link to learning skills and talents, including summer programs for students.
- Service integration through partnerships involving school, civic, counseling, cultural, health, recreation, and other agencies and organizations and businesses.
- Service to the community by students, families, and schools.
- Participation of alumni in school programs for students.

Epstein's Six Types of Involvement

6. Collaborating with Community Identify and integrate resources and services from the community to strengthen school programs, family practices, and student learning and development.

Challenges

- Solve turf problems of responsibilities, funds, staff, and locations for collaborative activities.
- Inform families of community programs for students such as mentoring, tutoring, business partnerships.
- Assure equity of opportunities for students and families to participate in community programs or to obtain services.
- Match community contributions with school goals, integrate child and family services with education.

AYP Review

- AYP is based on reading/language arts and mathematics achievement objectives.
  - Does the state measure achievement in reading/language arts and mathematics separately for determining AYP?
- For accountability purposes, using the WESTEST, achievement in reading/language arts and mathematics are measured separately for determining AYP.
- District AYP is determined annually for districts.
- A district is identified for improvement status only if all grade spans, elementary, middle and high school fail to make AYP for the current year in one or more of the student groups.
- However, if at least one of the grade spans makes AYP, the district is not identified for improvement. (Elementary, middle high school)
- AYP for each grade span is calculated by considering the percent of students proficient for the grade span compared to the established AMO for that grade span. Confidence interval, minimum “n” size, “Safe Harbor” provision and uniform averaging provisions apply to this calculation.
- A district identified for improvement status is removed from that status if the district makes AYP for two consecutive years or if at least one of the district’s grade spans makes AYP for two consecutive years.
