

As we mark the 150th anniversary of Mahatma Gandhi's birth, let's remind ourselves about how a simple man with a big heart with his wisdom and determination guided us towards the path of truth and peace, the two most important pillars of a healthy planet. Today, we must ask ourselves: What legacy did this great man leave to us? Are we learning the lessons he was trying to teach us?

Gandhiji once said- "You must not lose faith in humanity. Humanity is an ocean; if a few drops of the ocean are dirty, the ocean does not become dirty". Faith, is the most difficult thing to have today and faith is all we have.

The word today feels too polluted sometimes with poisoned thoughts, with poisoned air and too less space for love. Love! is it that difficult! Maybe not, everyone loves something, but is that enough! Gandhiji also believed that the day power of love overrules the love of power, the world will know peace. So now it is up to us how we use this power of love. All of us, the most elder ones, the youth ,the children have to think and contribute. Without compassion no mission can be achieved or even begin and while we talk about problems of the world we have to believe that we can make it happen, we can make a difference, we have the power and we will learn the skill to make it happen.
