

It all begins from within, one just has to unleash the power and all the impossibilities can be overcome by taking just one right step. No change is small and today's generation knows this as we have seen a single tweet on social media causing a revolutionary reform.

*The youth of today has heard from all
"So stubborn, so wrong" is everyone's call
To them we say,
Yes stubborn we may*

*Today we might be vulnerable, so what?
We'll touch the skies tomorrow
Today our hands are empty, so what?
We hold the power to handle every sorrow
Yes, we are headstrong
Today, I might be alone, so what?
I have the love to take everyone with me someday,
Today, as I am ready to lose something
I have the determination to get it all one day*

*My today is the way towards a tomorrow
Which I have to change in every single way
Yes, I am stubborn
And "I" am going to bring the change*