Requirement for Safe Return Plan assurances continues through September 2024

As part of a public-school district's allocations under the American Rescue Plan Act (ARP), districts are required to take public comment on their Safe Return Plans at least every six months through September 2024, which is the life of ARP Elementary and Secondary School Emergency Relief (ESSER) funding. Around Dec. 4, the Department of Education will send out assurances, via DocuSign, to superintendents, who need to assure that they have met the Safe Return Plan requirement since July 2023. Assurances will be due Dec. 22. If you have not already gathered public input on your plan this semester, December board meetings would be a great time to accomplish that.
