

OFFICE OPENING OVERVIEW

Each Opening Manager is different.

Most opening Managers will work with their professors to pull ahead in classes, give the date they are trying to be IN THEIR OFFICE for their promotion. The date they are gunning to be in office is 99.9% of the time BEFORE the actual graduation / final semester. Getting the approval takes creative effort with collaboration to your professors on Day 1 of January Classes.

Common Steps taken on Day 1 of Classes

1. Dress in a suit to your first day of classes, show up early, sit in the front.
2. Have a letter of intent you typed out stating
 - a. You will be in all classes up to opening date
 - b. You plan to study diligently and get ahead if allowed
 - c. You plan to do YOUR BEST and pass the class with an A
3. Go up to your professor, introduce yourself, give him the calendar of events
4. Explain to your professor, Corporate is investing 6k+ into you this summer
5. You EARNED the promotion to open your own summer office and with the professors blessing you are seeking to be able to pass their class early and be allowed to move to your territory by April 25th

In the rare occasion that your professor simply does not allow you to prepare, execute, and set up to have your best summer there is the “remote option” around finals. Please refer to Remote Option AFTER doing the 5-step set up on Day 1 of Classes.
