 LOOK INSIDE

Everything we do at AstraZeneca

is driven by our commitment to improving the lives of patients. Whether that's working to reach more people with our medicines, or applying our science skills to developing the next generation of treatments, or collaborating with others in the fight against disease, everything centres on understanding and meeting the needs of people facing serious health challenges.

We are a global innovation-driven biopharmaceutical company specialising in the discovery, development, manufacturing and marketing of prescription medicines that make a meaningful difference in healthcare.
