

NOT YOUR ORDINARY SKULL CAP!!

HITT-SHIELD Defender™ Skull cap made with our patented Non-Newtonian Dilutant Fluid, NDF™ out performed every protection material available to the consumer. Our High Impact Transfer Technology (HITT) demonstrates up to 80% reduction in both linear and rotational impacts. This absorption and dissipation of forces goes way beyond what any helmet can do.

Our NDF™ protection product performed better than every other protection material used in all sports, medical, police and military equipment. We are talking major brand name Football, Hockey, Bike, Motorcycle Helmets and all sports protection skullcaps and padding. If you want the best impact protection against concussions, sub concussive, CTE and all other traumatic brain injuries. Make sure your product is using NDF™ protection!!! This patented technology provides enhanced protection and is a flexible material for a host of shock absorption and impact protection applications. Serving as the most flexible and protection solutions in the market. It can be used in many other application fields-limited to ones imagination.
