Support Worker

Hi, my name is Amanda Appenzeller, and I have had the privilege of supporting NDIS participants for several years across a wide range of settings.

I believe in following the lead of each participant and taking the time to build genuine connections at a pace that feels safe and comfortable for them. I am a positive and approachable person, and I value creating supportive environments where people feel understood, respected, and empowered. If I see someone without a smile, I'm always happy to lend them one of mine.

I am passionate about supporting individuals to work towards their goals, strengthen their independence, and enhance their quality of life through meaningful and person-centred support.
