

CHISU Quality Policy

Chisu International and all Chisu branch Companies, are committed to quality as understated:

Chisu operates in a global environment with Internationally known companies, their products comply to the highest standards required by International regulations and national standards.

All staff and employees must be trained regularly in order to comply to the rules accurately.

A Quality Manager must be appointed, whose responsibility is to keep all checkpoints in place and regularly carry out inspections where applicable.

All explosives are required an TDS or MSDS sheet to accompany the packings, transport and storage.

To assure the quality of all products, our suppliers provide all requested certificates of products and guarantee the quality.

Testing and measuring the quality of products is one of our regular practices.

Chisu is committed to meet all customer's needs, by delivering products within the agreed specifications and within the exact time frame.

Chisu continues to strive to improve services and offer quality products:

If better is possible, good is not enough.
