Acts 16:1-15

This mission team composed of Paul, Silas, Timothy, and Luke is impressive. They were diverse in skills and strengths. Who would be on your dream mission team? You can pick from Bible pioneers, anyone from Church history, and from your own circle. You may think about the different types of people who you believe would be assets to a successful mission trip.

I shared that my daughters were my first mission field. Who are the people making up your current mission field? Where do you dream of carrying the gospel? If this isn't something you dream about, why is that the case?

The Holy Spirit is our personal GPS tracking our movements and directing our course. Talk about ways the Spirit has helped correct your navigation through delays or interruptions. Have you ever experienced extraordinary clear guidance? Elaborate.

The vision of the Man from Macedonia changed their course to sail across the Aegean Sea to Greece. Which sounds divine in every way! This course change was likely an answer to Lydia's prayers. Have you ever prayed for something that God used another person to answer? What did you pray for and how did God answer your prayer request?

Let's talk about the impressive woman in Acts 16. (Don't you see why I wanted to name my daughter after her?) What details about Lydia stand out to you? Did you learn anything about her that was table flipping information to you?

How can you or how do you leverage your household or business to serve the gospel mission and to make disciples?
