

Quartzfest 2024

January 21-27

If you haven't already made plans, it's time to plan on attending Quartzfest 2024.

We're planning on posting a new map on our website <http://quartzfest.org> for groups who gather at Quartzfest. We already have Sam's Radio Hams on the map but need more. If you have a group gathering at Quartzfest and want your location posted on the map so your group members can easily find you, drop a note to Kevin at khedgepe@presys.com so you can coordinate your location with him.

Tracy has been working hard on our schedule of events. Do you have a topic that you'd like to present in a seminar to the group? If so, drop Tracy a note at wm6t@arrl.net so he can add you to the schedule. In addition to tech seminars we'd like to have a couple more non-tech talks..i.e., vacations to interesting locations, etc..

Do you have a love for off-roading? Would you like to lead an of road trip during Quartzfest? Frank AA7BQ had led our of road trips for the past 14 years and is ready to pass that responsibility of to someone else. Frank is going to lead our event again this year but says he's happy to help a new trip leader in the takeover.

As we ask every year, please bring firewood with you to Quartzfest. We have campfires everyday during Quartzfest. If everyone brings a bundle of wood we should have enough to last the week.

Lyn and I are looking forward to seeing all of you in January
