Frequently Asked Questions ...

What kind of events can we serve?

Well...any event you can think of really. Weddings, Community Gatherings, Private Parties, Corporate Functions, Holidays, Birthdays, and every other occasion you can think of. As long as your place of venue approves the cutest little servers you'll ever meet can be there!

What is operational time?

Operational time is when the animals and the handler's begin serving guests. Once they begin serving, their operational time starts and there are no breaks (e.g. for the ceremony) for the time contracted for.

What types of things can the animals serve in their baskets?

Our animals can serve any beverages (or party favors, snacks, that are individually wrapped, or programs etc.) that you provide. We do not sell alcohol, but our handlers are certified servers and can serve alcohol.

We can serve wine or champagne we just need the bottles to be opened beforehand. WE DO NOT SUPPLY THE BEVERAGES FOR THEIR BASKETS

What if they go to the bathroom at our event?

Our animals wear a "Potty Bag" that hides the sight and smell. This is a discrete bag that is tucked under their tail to ensure we "leave no trace" at your venue.

Can we pick which animals will come to our event?

When booking a mini cow or lamb, we ensure that healthy, rested, happy animals are ready to serve your guest! We cannot allow you to pick your specific animals as a variety of factors goes into which pairs will serve your event.

Do you only book for one hour of operational time?

Generally, yes. After hundreds of weddings and events we have found that guests love their animal experience, their beverages from the fluffy servers, photos with the animals and their cuddles. After an hour they are hungry, feeling relaxed, and ready to move on to the main event. This is such a unique novelty experience, so in the event of booking for a wedding we recommend one hour of operational time.
