ADHD ASSESSMENT

Psychological assessment for ADHD provides a comprehensive assessment of the child's behavioural and cognitive functioning, in relation to the DSM-5 diagnostic criteria. Better understanding of a child's functioning in the context of environmental and familial factors is important; both in order to explore differential diagnoses and/or comorbidities, and to understand specific areas of cognitive strength and weakness.

While psychological assessment can provide a diagnosis of ADHD (or exclusion of this as the case may be) it should be considered as a provisional diagnosis subject to medical evaluation. Review by a Developmental Paediatrician or Psychiatrist/Neurologist (for example) is important to screen for and rule out any potential underlying medical causes or comorbidities, for example. Further, psychologists are unable to prescribe or monitor medication for ADHD symptom management if families choose this option as part of the child's treatment plan. The Psychologist's report of assessment findings can be used to inform & support medical diagnosis and intervention planning, or to assist with access to school/classroom accommodations.

Referral & Acceptance

Referrals are accepted from medical or allied health professionals.

Self-referrals are also welcomed and will be assessed for suitability prior to acceptance, as per the referral process below.

Under the APS Code of Ethics, the psychologist will assess each referral received to determine if this would be considered as a valid and appropriate reason for assessment. The psychologist determines this by considering whether the assessment will be suitable and beneficial for the child and is ethical under APS guidelines. The final decision regarding suitability rests with the psychologist. If it is determined that the assessment, psychologist, or referral reason is not suitable, this will be conveyed to the parent/s and/or contracting party and the psychologist reserves the right not to engage with the client in this service.

Assessment Process

Following completion of some documentation, a comprehensive parent only interview session will be conducted to obtain detailed and comprehensive information about your concerns for your child and to better understand how this is impacting upon functioning etc. Your child will then attend an assessment session with the psychologist. The assessment involves administration of The Wechsler Intelligence Scale for Children-Fifth Edition (WISC-V); which is the latest version of a highly trusted and evidence-based measure of intelligence. During the assessment, children will be asked to engage in a number of brief tasks including using blocks, looking at pictures and some verbal questions etc. There will be opportunity for short breaks between subtests. It is best to allow approximately 2 hours for the assessment.

IT IS IMPORTANT TO INFORM THE PSYCHOLOGIST (prior to booking) IF YOUR CHILD HAS HAD ANY FORM OF IQ ASSESSMENT IN THE PAST.

Although not common, assessment may need to be completed over two sessions due to various circumstances. Additionally, there are times where children are not able to complete assessment. Assessment behaviour forms part of the process and is used in interpretation of the results. As such, in cases where full assessment is unable to be completed, this will still be a chargeable service (no refund/discount). A report will still be provided with any obtainable results and assessment behaviour reported.

Additional assessment tools will also be administered, as indicated based on the referral question.

Parents and teachers/daycare providers will also be sent a number of online questionnaires to complete. It is requested that these are completed and returned at earliest convenience to reduce any delays on reporting.

Following the appointment, results from all assessments are carefully scored, interpreted, and reported.

Parents receive a comprehensive report, including specific recommendations tailored to the child's specific areas of strength and weakness.

There is also an option for parents to engage in a brief feedback session (30 mins) via ZOOM to discuss any queries or talk through the report, or an option for email feedback.

Engagement of Services

Upon agreement between parent/caregivers and the psychologist, suitable dates and times for each stage of the assessment process will be arranged. Included in the packaged cost for cognitive assessment services is:

Total package cost (inclusive of the above) is $950.00 (current as at 01 May 2022).

If the assessment cannot be completed within the allocated assessment appointment time of 2 hours due to child's test behaviour or specific accommodations/requirements, then it is likely that the child will need to attend an additional session on a subsequent day, at the rate of $230.00 per hour (minimum 1 hour charge).

In the event of incomplete assessment results the clinician will still report upon all aspects of agreed assessment, utilising any partial results and including observational data. A report containing obtained information will still be provided. Although not ideal, interpretations and recommendations can still be drawn from partial scores and the clinician will ensure that the report is as comprehensive as possible based upon available data.

The need for additional assessment is usually identified at the time of referral (based on referral question) so this would be discussed and arranged prior to engagement with the service. However, on occasion, cognitive assessment may indicate areas where further assessment may be required. Time taken to conduct additional assessment or gather further data outside of the above will be charged at an hourly rate of $230.00 but will only be carried out in consultation with parent/caregiver. Any additional time required for assessment purposes is required to be paid on day of service.

Generally speaking, Medicare and private health funds do not provide rebates for psychology assessments; however, you may wish to check this with your individual fund.

Cancellation

Appointments are precious! Not only are there families who would like to the opportunity of earlier assessment dates, as a small business, late cancellations and no-shows impact us significantly. There is a lot of administrative and preparation work involved outside of clinic-based appointments.

As such, cancellation of any booked appointments or assessments must be done by providing a minimum of 48 hours' notice. In the case where insufficient notice (less than 48 hours) or a missed appointment occurs, a cancellation fee of $250.00 is payable to cover costs associated with preparation, administration, and room rental fees. This includes circumstances where appointments need to be cancelled due to medical reasons, however cancellation fee may be waived at the service's discretion if a medical certificate can be provided.

It is extremely important that, if you or your child are unwell, you do not attend face to face appointments. Instead, you are encouraged to contact us as soon as symptoms are noticed, to try and arrange a telehealth session (where appropriate) or discuss rescheduling (cancellation fees as above—please discuss this with Nicola).

Please note that cancellation or reschedule of appointments on more than two occasions may mean that your child is placed back on to the waitlist for service.
