

“California Oaks” looks like an antique. This is in the style of the Early California Expressionist painters. It could be in any part of San Diego Back country.

It has my signature crackle finish— but this crackle has a deep honey colored luminosity from many layers of varnish. I had it in my entry in Rancho Santa fe for many years— and when designers or clients would come to view my studio— they would try to buy it! But it had the seed of an idea that I had wanted to expand upon, so I have kept it hoarded all these years.

Like an antique— it is a bit distressed— which makes it look all the more authentic. 23.5 x 35”
