

A good example of my expertise in portraiture. I had a commission from my lovely yoga teacher to photograph her wedding and paint a portrait. I liked it so much I did another— this one.

I am no longer able to hold a brush to paint because of arthritis, and also have chemical sensitivities from the oil paints.

I must have painted a couple of dozen like this— and most went for a wholesale of 2,000.00. Those retailed in a Palm Desert gallery went to 4,000.00. On board— 24 x 30” unframed. Time to let go, I have other keepers. If you would like some sweet energy— she is just $95.00!
