

Prayer

God,
Thank You for reminding me who I am
when I forget.

When I start measuring my worth by productivity, applause, or progress, gently pull me back to truth.

Anchor me in who You created me to be — not who I feel pressured to become.

Help me move from identity, not for identity.

Quiet every voice that contradicts what You've already spoken over my life.

Today, I receive Your reminder.

I am chosen.

I am called.

I am enough.

Amen.
