

KITCHENS BY Ambiance

Fine Cabinetry for the Home

To Whom it May Concern,

As a designer and builder of luxury kitchens, I never knew that the creative work, custom interior design and quality construction technique that goes into our projects would qualify Kitchens By Ambiance to be able to recover tax credits! That's just what we do every day to differentiate our business.

I met with Your Strategy Partners (Rick & Debbie Perry) and learned that the Federal Government has a Business Tax Incentive program specifically to incentivize innovative businesses like mine, to help us build and grow medium-size American business. Although I thought it was probably too good to be true, Your Strategy Partners were really able to recover those unclaimed tax credits and incentives, and get back my overpaid taxes from the IRS.

From the initial conservative assessment, the tax incentive specialist CPA's were able to find over five times the amount which was originally estimated. That is money I can use to build my business, or in any way I desire. There was no cost for the initial analysis, and everything is kept securely confidential, and I have peace of mind knowing that the accounting team will stand by me 100% in the event of any audit.

I am pleased to recommend Your Strategy Partners for business tax incentive services.

With regards,

Jim Gerard, President
