NEBIRU

Volcanic / Carbonic Nebbiolo

Alto-Piemonte, Italy

Amidst the storied vineyards of Alto-Piemonte's Boca region, a vivid idea took root in my mind—a wild, audacious notion to resurrect a forgotten style of Nebbiolo. Inspired by the 1606 note of Gian Battista Croce, the talented jeweler of the revered House of Savoia, NEBIRU emerged as an experimental take of Nebbiolo wines of a bygone era; a fresher, crisper, and crunchier style of Nebbiolo

NEBIRU is a tribute to the vibrant mineral-laden volcanic vineyards that blanket Boca, leaving an indelible mark on each grape. This is an invitation to explore the untrodden paths of Nebbiolo's history—a journey fueled by a desire to rekindle the authenticity and spirit of an era long gone.

The word Nebiru finds its origins in ancient mythology, specifically associated with the mysterious planet Nibiru. Referred to in ancient texts as a celestial body beyond our solar system, Nibiru has intrigued and fascinated generations with its enigmatic presence. In the context of Nebiru wine, the name pays homage to this mystical concept, evoking a sense of intrigue and discovery.
