

Passive finger

Coding- 7499- Silicone finger extension with rigid micro frame. 1875.00 MSRP

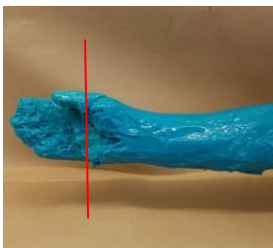

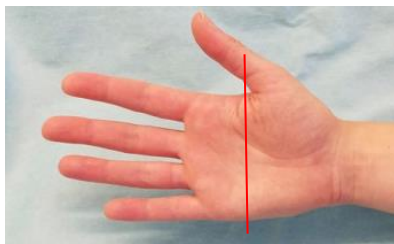

Justification- The passive finger extension by Partial Hand Solutions is designed to provide an extension for the affected finger to improve the users ability to grasp objects, preserve natural finger length and also offer a protective covering for the finger. The device consists of a custom silicone inner socket manufactured by a model of the patient's finger. A mold of the sound side finger is used to match the users size and shape to closely match the dimensions of the user. A rigid frame is applied over the silicone to create a stable and supportive device to maximize the users ability to grasp objects securely.
