...for reasons unknow, Satoshi sailed away, never to be heard from again.

Before sailing away, Satoshi" amassed a booty of over a million coins, stashing 50 in over 20,000 treasure chests. The lock keys were melted, and every chest was thrown overboard

The "Satoshi Stash" chests and 1000s of other treasure chests containing coins are at the bottom of the "ocean".

The public ledger has a record of every P2P transaction disclosing the amount of booty remaining in each chest and "ocean" location.

QTMLabs will launch the greatest treasure expedition in history. By harnessing the power of quantum computing and AI, a monumental effort will be executed to regenerate melted and lost keys to open thousands of treasure chests.