EPILOG: THE "SATOSHI STASH" - Over 20,000 treasure chests each containing 50 coins are believed to have been thrown overboard from the Nakamoto and every key tossed into a smelting furnace into nothingness. Coordinates of every treasure chest is mapped for all to see, yet every single chest is permanently secured to the ocean bottom, each sealed with a different currently unbreakable lock. While any tracking navy or rival pirate can easily locate the treasure chests, every chest will remain locked until a matching skeleton key can some day be generated.

