Chapter 3: The First Fire - The Nakamoto sits still in a cove, Len climbs the mainmast and drops the canvas sails to catch the very first gust of the Bitcoin network's data-wind. They stage a public transaction. Hal accepts a transfer of 10 freshly minted coins from Satoshi. To the outside world, Captain Satoshi is real. In reality, the transaction is testing if their newly created phantom identity works perfectly before releasing the new currency.

